Britain Offers Dulles Compromise Plan

Backs Pacific Unity, Opposes China Warning

London Still Balking At Ultimatum To Reds Before Geneva Talks

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—Britain offered Secretary of State Dulles a compromise tonight in the Western Power's rift over how to halt the Chinese Communists from overrunning Indochina and Southeast Asia.

British informants said Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden promised to support Dulles' plan for a ring of anti-Communist nations in the Pacific around Red China.

But they said Britain still balked at any Western Big Three ultimatum to China before the Geneva conference on Far Eastern problems April 26. Russia and Red China will attend that parley with the United States, Britain and France, as well as some of the Western Allies in the Korean War.

Prime Minister Churchill, pleading the need of Western unity at Geneva, stepped in at a dinner meeting tonight to urge compromise and prevent an open rift.

The U. S. secretary of state planned a final meeting with Eden tomorrow morning. Then he will fly to Paris to pursue his talks with the reluctant French.

Oppose Pre-Parley Ultimatum

Both countries have taken the stand that an ultimatum now to Red China against sending their troops into Indochina would spoil negotiations at the Geneva conference.

Official sources here stressed that no agreement on Indochina would be reached in London in advance of Dulles' talks with the French. But in Paris tonight, French and foreign observers regarded the British position as deciding the fate of Dulles' plan.

They felt that if Churchill and Eden stopped Dulles, there would be little for him to discuss with French leaders because the French already agreed with Britain on the issue.

But if Dulles was able to get agreement on some united action before the Geneva meeting, France saw little chance of holding out against both her major Western allies.

Britain's Position

In his talks with Eden during the day, Dulles was reportedly presented with this British position:

1. If the Communists spurn negotiated settlements of Indochina, Korea and Southeast Asia problems at Geneva, then France and Britain would be ready to help sponsor the hands-off warning to Peiping, and a new defense organization in the region.

2. But a declaration of common aims in the Far East cannot be rushed. The British are wary of anything that looks like another Korea, and public opinion would have to be prepared for any united front moves.

3. Nearness of the rainy season in Indochina would slow military operations and allow time to plan a careful program of action during the summer. Hasty contermeasures were not called for now.

4. India and Pakistan, Asian partners of Britain in the commonwealth, would oppose British involvement in what they regard as the Indochinese "colonial war."

Army Will Give Probe Statement Of Charges Against Sen. M'Carthy

Senator Expected To Supply Similar Pre-Hearing Data

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The Army agreed today to give investigating senators an advance statement of its accusations against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and of the evidence to support the charges.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee, which will conduct the inquiry at public televised hearings starting April 22, announced it also has asked McCarthy for similar statements in connection with his accusations against top Army officials.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who will preside at the investigation, told a news conference the charges made by each side in the bitter row will be made available to the other, and the subcommittee's special counsel, Ray H. Jenkins said it would be "normal" practice to make the statements public at the same time.

Mundt described the move as intended in part to prevent either side from springing some "surprise package" of testimony at its adversary in the hearings. But he said it "would not preclude" the calling of unscheduled witnesses if it became necessary to bring out the truth in the battle of charges and countercharges.

Mundt talked to reporters after a 3¼ hour meeting behind closed doors with Stevens and Joseph N. Welch, special counsel representing the Army in the inquiry.

Mundt said he had talked by telephone with McCarthy, who is "somewhere in Arizona," inviting McCarthy to come before the group tomorrow for a similar talk. He said McCarthy replied that "his throat is still bothering him" and that the Wisconsin senator "is not just sure when he will return" to Washington.

McCarthy, chairman of the subcommittee, has stepped to the sidelines while the group investigates the row, letting Mundt sit as temporary chairman.

At McCarthy's suggestion, Mundt said, the subcommittee will meet instead tomorrow with Roy M. Cohn, the subcommittee's regular chief counsel, and Francis P. Carr, its chief of staff, whom an Army report has accused along with McCarthy of using pressure tactics in efforts to win favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a drafted associated. Schine was a nonsalaried consultant to the group until he was drafted last November.

Red Romania Releases Sons Of Georgescu

Two Boys And Father, Who Refused To Turn Spy, On Way To U. S.

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—Two sons of Romanian-born Valeriu C. Georgescu who had been held in Communist Romania as hostages were on their way to the United States and freedom tonight after President Eisenhower was reported to have personally appealed for their release.

Georgescu was reunited with his teen-age sons in West Germany today. He had scorned Romanian demands that he buy their freedom by spying gainst his adopted America.

Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) said in Washington she had been told President Eisenhower wrote a letter to the Romanian government during the last six weeks in which he asked the boys be permitted to join their father in the United States as "the heartful thing to do."

Tearful Reunion

Father and sons stopped over briefly at London airport en route to New York.

"I hardly recognized them, they had grown so much," the emotion-shaken father told reporters after a tearful reunion in Munich—the first in seven years.

The boys — Constantin, 19 and Peter, 15—smiled happily as they chatted with their father. Later the three stopped off briefly in Frankfurt en route by plane to the United States and reunion with the boys' mother at the family's New York home.

Georgescu said help from the State Department had made it possible for the boys to leave Romania, He refused to disclose details, saying only "We're most grateful to those who helped us." The State Department in Washington said no concessions were granted Romania to win the boys' freedom.

Romanian Diplomat Ousted

Georgescu said he did not know until two weeks ago that the boys would be allowed to leave Romania. The last time he saw his sons was in 1947 when he and his wife left Bucharest, where he was branch chief of Standard Oil of New Jersey, for a two-month visit to the United States.

"As a representative of American capital they wouldn't let me come back," he said, "and refused to let our sons join us."

The State Department disclosed last May that Georgescu had told them Christache Zambeti, first secretary of the Romanian legation, tried to blackmail him into spying for the Reds in order to regain his sons.

Georgescu refused and his report to the State Department forced the recall of Zambeti, who left protesting that he had been framed.

Weeps As Husband, Sons Reunited

Mrs. Lygia Georgescu weeps in new New York apartment after looking over Associated Press radiophotos of the reunion of her husband, Valeriu, with their two sons, Peter, 15, and Constantin, 19, in Frankfurt, Germany, yesterday. Their two sons reached Germany after being allowed to leave Communist Romania. They were met by their father, a Romanian-born American businessman who had refused to be blackmailed into spying to win the release of his sons from Romania. Mrs. Georgescu has not seen the boys in seven years.

Commissioner Resigns; Files Seized, Frozen

Cole Reports Abuses Under Repair Setup, Apartment Financing

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The government today launched a wholesale investigation of alleged frauds against home owners, and Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole forecast the dismissal of "numerous Federal Housing Administration officials.

FHA Commissioner Guy T. O. Hollyday resigned. President Eisenhower accepted his resignation and ordered the seizure and "freezing" of FHA files pending an inquiry by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Cole said Hollyday resigned in order to step aside and permit others to explore his agency. The housing chief said Hollyday "in my opinion is a good Christian gentleman."

Cole, who as head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency supervises FHA operations, ordered withdrawal of the acceptance of the resignation last week of a second official—Clyde L. Powell, assistant FHA commissioner for rental housing.

"Negligent Operation"

Cole said he wanted to keep Powell in the government service until "it can be determined whether he is personally responsible for what I deem very negligent operation of the program."

Powell is from St. Louis, Mo.

Fourteen senior officials of the FHA will find their conduct under scrutiny, Cole told a news conference.

He said "numerous" of them will lose their jobs, but not all.

Cole issued a statement saying there have been:

1. Alleged "serious irregularities and abuses" in the home modernization and repair program, whereby some home owners have been charged twice the value of repair jobs and in some cases obtained "shoddy" work to boot.

2. Evidence of "illegal or unethical actions" in the financing of FHA-insured apartment projects under "Title 608," the so-called middle-income rental housing program which expired in 1950.

Mortgages Exceeded Cost

The housing chief said investigation has turned up 251 cases in which FHA insured mortgages on apartment houses exceeded the actual cost of the projects.

The "windfall" to the promoters in those cases alone was "well over 75 million dollars," Cole said. The government may have to stand a good part of that sum.

Cole said Hollyday might be responsible for some of the abuses under the housing repair program because: "I believe he has been aware of it and did not act."

But the abuses in the apartment-house program occurred prior to expiration of that title in 1950, Cole emphasized, so that Hollyday could not have been involved in that. He was appointed by Eisenhower a year ago.

Viet Nam Orders Full Mobilization Of Its Young Men

SAIGON, Indochina, April 12 (AP)—War-ravaged Viet Nam today ordered an all-out draft of her young men in the first of a far-reaching series of measures to help the French smash the Vietminh's Red-led legions in Indochina.

The new Viet Nam Cabinet — meeting under Premier Prince Buu Loc for the first time since it was formed Saturday — decreed total mobilization by May 15 of its male citizens between 21 and 25. It marked the first time in the seven-year Indochina War that Viet Nam has ordered a total call-up. Until now the Union Forces of French, North Africans and Foreign Legionnaires have carried the main load.

Word of the draft order came as the French announced in Hanoi that the weary, out-numbered defenders of Dien Bien Phu had hurled back another rebel assault on the northwest Indochina fortress. A French spokesman said the counter-attack, launched at bayonet point, had taken a heavy toll on both sides.

To give its mobilization order force, the Viet Nam Cabinet ordered courtmartial boards set up to handle draft dodgers and deserters. All men subject to military duty were forbidden to leave the country.

At the same time the Cabinet froze some 100,000 Vietnamese volunteers now on active duty and ordered them to continue serving with the nation's armed forces until further notice.

The mobilization followed a government decree issued before ex-Emperor Bao Dai left for Paris negotiations Saturday. The decree merged into Viet Nam's 300,000-man national army 32,000 seasoned fighters who had formerly acted under orders from the Cao Dai and Hoa Hao religious sects and the Binh Xuyen party.

Flames Sweep Seven Cars After PRR Wreck

LANCASTER, Pa., April 12 (INS)—Seven freight cars, including one carrying oil, were swept by flames today when an eastbound Pennsylvania Railroad freight train was derailed at Columbia, 12 miles west of Lancaster. The train was en route from Harrisburg, Pa., to New York.

Thirty-one of the 122 freight cars left the tracks. One car struck a steel power pole, toppling live wires on the oil tank car which exploded with a roar.

Proposed Slash In Farm Surplus Aid Under Fire

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The administration's plan to slash the sending of surplus farm goods overseas, under the U.S. foreign aid program, came under sharp attack today by some Republicans and Democrats on the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

One of those protesting, Rep. Fulton (R-Pa), urged that the purchase of farm surplus be stepped up instead—to as much as one billion dollars worth in the next fiscal year.

Conflicting views were aired at a hearing on the administration's proposal to furnish $3,497,700,000 in foreign aid in the year beginning July 1, more than half of it to countries in the Far East and Pacific.

Dr. D. A. Fitzgerald, deputy to Foreign Operations Director Harold E. Stassen, said his agency plans to spend 55 or 60 million dollars for farm surplus, compared with 241 millions this year. That would be a cut of about 60 per cent.

In answer to protests, Fitzgerald said there is no easy solution to the problem of surpluses for the needy abroad. The food is available, he said, but the hungry overseas don't have the money to pay for it.

"Let's feed the hungry!" declared Fulton. "We've done it before on a Santa Claus basis."

Reps. Morano (R-Conn) and Burleson (D-Tex) voiced agreement.

Soviet Against West's Palestine Debate Plan

UNITED NATIONS, April 12 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky lined up wth the Arab countries today against a Western Power plan for a general debate on the tense situation between Israel and Jordan.

The threat of a walkout by Lebanon from the Security Council hung over the delegates as Vishinsky, whose country frist used the walkout as a policy instrument eight years ago, said it is not expedient or necessary to lump together conflicting Israeli and Arab complaints.

Vishinsky thus pushed a step farther the new turn of Soviet diplomacy in siding with the Arabs in disputes with the West or in their unending conflict with Israel.

West Plan Called Unfair

Charles Malik, Lebanese delegate, and sole Arab sitting on the Council, denounced the Western plan as "unfair." He said it was an attempt to smother discussion of the Israeli raid on Nahalin which cost nine Arab lives.

Malik did not mention threats voiced by Arabs that Lebanon might withdraw if the West wins its point.

He repeatedly urged the West not to try and force a decision on the Arabs.

The Council adjourned at 6:55 p.m. EST until Thursday at 3:00 p.m. EST without deciding how to tackle the urgent problems brought up by Lebanon and Israel.

Raids By Israelis, Arabs Charged

The debate continued through a second long session of the Council.

Malik with Vishinsky's help, demanded that the Council take up first a charge by Jordan, sponsored by Lebanon, that militarily trained Israelis raided Nahalin, a Jordan village, and killed the Arabs.

Countering this complaint is a general charge by Israel that Arabs from Jordan carried out 29 incursions into Israel within the last five months, that Jordan refuses to come to a conference on their border troubles, and that Jordan is violating the armistice.

Vishinsky said that earlier this year he had maintained that rival Israel and Egyptian complaints involving Suez Canal shipping restrictions should be debated together.

Famed Atom Scientist Reported Suspended

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—The New York Times says famed physicist Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, who directed the making of the first atomic bomb, has been suspended on security grounds by the Atomic Energy Commission.

A panel of the commission's Personnel Security Board, headed by Gordon Gray, president of the University of North Carolina and former secretary of the Army, started hearings on the case today, the Times said.

Meanwhile, the dispatch by James Reston from Washington says, Oppenheimer has been denied access to all government security documents.

Java And Tomato Juice Give Assist To Huge Airliner

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 12 (AP)—Coffee and tomato juice prevented what might have been a damaging accident to a big Eastern Airlines plane at the Municipal Airport here yesterday.

The big ship, a Constellation aircoach, was bound from New York to New Orleans and was not scheduled to stop here. But hydraulic fluid leaked from the landing gear and crew members decided to bring it down and transfer the 35 passengers to another plane.

Fluid was needed to replace that lost. The only fluid available — coffee and tomato juice aboard to be served to passengers — was pumped into the system two hours as the plane circled.

The big ship landed safely, undamaged.

"Operation Cleanup"

HAGERSTOWN, April 12 (AP) — Two pigeons flew in and perched on a ledge over Magistrate William Kreykenbohm's bench today while he was holding court.

"Stand back and watch out," the magistrate advised while he went ahead with the business.

Afterward, he had to summon city employes to clean up the bench.

U. S. Asks Release Of 32 Americans Held In Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 12 (AP)—The United States appealed today for the immediate release of 32 American citizens, including two newspapermen and several missionaries, held by Communist China.

The appeal was made in the U. N. Economic and Social Council by U. S. Delegate Preston Hotchkis, who warned that the United States will continue to press the question in the U. N. and elsewhere.

Hotchkis blasted Communist countries generally for their treatment of Americans, particularly three newspapermen. These were William N. Oatis, former Associated Press bureau chief in Prague, who was imprisoned by Czechoslovak authorities; Donald Dixon, International News Service, and Richard Applegate, national Broadcasting Company. Dixon and Applegate are held by Red China.

Hotchkis noted that Oatis was freed last year and is now a correspondent at the U.N., but that no information could be obtained about Applegate, Dixon and the 30 others held by the Chinese Reds. Referring to Applegate and Dixon he said:

"For more than a year these newspapermen have been held incommunicado in a Chinese Communist jail, while the authorities of that regime have ignored completely the repeated inquiries and protests of my government, and from relatives, friends and colleagues of the unfortunate journalists and their traveling companions who were seized with them."

Hotchkis said the only crime of the 32 prisoners appears to be "that they were American journalists, missionaries or businessmen or students."

Brownell Offers Anti-Red Plan

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell today handed a House Judiciary subcommittee a 10-point legislative program aimed against the Communist movement which he described as "the advance guard of the military power of Russia."

Brownell said he believes that a tightening up of present laws and the passage of additional measures will make up "a comprehensive and effective program to destroy the Communist menace."

The total package, he said, would be more effective than legislation outlawing the Communist party in this country.

The House group, headed by Rep. Graham (R-Pa), is studying a number of bills to outlaw the party in one way or another.

Brownell, who has made public previously his proposals for anti-subversion legislation, suggested that outlawing the party would cause it to go underground and make it tougher for the FBI to keep it under surveillance.

He also said constitutional questions might result from such legislation, leading to prolonged court tests which would interfere with efforts to expose Communists and their activities.

At Least 3 Killed In Blast, Fire At Goldsboro, N. C.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., April 12 (AP)—A mysterious explosion shattered three buildings in the heart of Goldsboro's business district today, killing at least three persons and injuring 15.

At least two more were feared dead. Two of the dead were identified as M. W. Edwards, owner of the Edwards and Jernigan Furniture Co., where the blast was centered, and Luther Shelton Denning, 17, of Four Oaks.

The third was tentatively identified as Mrs. Eunice Smith Collins, a cashier at the store. Missing and presumed dead was T. D. Holmes, assistant manager.

The 1:45 p. m. blast was followed by fire which was brought under control two hours later.

Rescue workers searched the wreckage tonight for more bodies.

Plate glass windows in a two-block radius of the scene were shattered. Nine of the injured were in a restaurant across the street. They were hurt by flying glass.

HST Says 'Bogeymen' Make Mockery Of U. S. Traditions

FULTON, Mo., April 12 (AP)—Former President Truman said tonight political bogeymen who proclaim themselves custodians of our freedom are making a mockery of the very institutions "they so callously pretend they are seeking to preserve."

"They have no more respect for the due process of law and order than the Communists they say they hate but whose methods they copy," the former President added.

He named no one but it was obvious he spoke of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) when he said:

"There is even one among them whose torrent of wild charges is calculated to damage the faith of Americans in the integrity of their government, army, schools, churches, their labor unions and the press. Most of all, he is threatening to undermine the respect and confidence Americans must have in one another."

In a speech prepared for delivery at Westminster College, the ex-President said these "bogeymen" were descendants of the ancient order of witch hunters (who) have learned nothing from history."

Speaking from the same platform where Winston Churchill eight years ago made his historic plea for an Anglo-American alliance against Russia, Truman recalled he had introduced the wartime British Prime Minister who at that time was a private citizen vacationing in the United States.

Truman said, recalling Churchill's speech, "I am particularly mindful of the tradition and background of law which is the common basis of our two democracies. It is from the British we have inherited the concept that a man is innocent until he is proven guilty."

115 Years Maximum Length Of Human Life, Experts Say

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—No matter how well you feel today, one fact is inescapable. You can't count on ever reaching your 116th birthday.

The National Geographic Society, which has been looking into these things, reports that most experts agree that 112, 113 or maybe even 115 appears to be the maximum length of human life.

Still, a surprisingly large number of U. S. citizens are making every effort to make the experts look silly: 4,500 of us are 100 years old or older.

To be sure, history has provided what would appear to be exceptions to the 115-year rule.

Methuselah reached 969, although his age has been open to various interpretations.

A Dane reportedly became a bridegroom at 111 and lived happily ever after. Or, anyway, until he was 145. A Javanese reputedly died at 148, while old Thomas Parr, the Shropshire lad who died in the reign of Charles I, reportedly lasted until he was 152.

And so on up the scale until we reach the Russians, who win this race, too. They claim one of their women died at 180.

In this country many people claim to be 120 or more. But since they have no proofs to back up their claims they don't get far with the demographers. (That is high class for people who study population statistics).

An oldtimer's memory sometimes slips a cog; sometimes it's encouraged to slip because communities make such a fuss over a centenarian.

Oddly, although science has figured out many a way to prolong a man's life, it still hasn't found a way to make him live past 115. Demographers think that in all recorded history that's about the maximum a man could expect.

Red Romania Releases Sons Of Georgescu

Two Boys And Father, Who Refused To Turn Spy, On Way To U. S.

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—Two sons of Romanian-born Valeriu C. Georgescu who had been held in Communist Romania as hostages were on their way to the United States and freedom tonight after President Eisenhower was reported to have personally appealed for their release.

Georgescu was reunited with his teen-age sons in West Germany today. He had scorned Romanian demands that he buy their freedom by spying gainst his adopted America.

Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) said in Washington she had been told President Eisenhower wrote a letter to the Romanian government during the last six weeks in which he asked the boys be permitted to join their father in the United States as "the heartful thing to do."

Tearful Reunion

Father and sons stopped over briefly at London airport en route to New York.

"I hardly recognized them, they had grown so much," the emotion-shaken father told reporters after a tearful reunion in Munich—the first in seven years.

The boys — Constantin, 19 and Peter, 15—smiled happily as they chatted with their father. Later the three stopped off briefly in Frankfurt en route by plane to the United States and reunion with the boys' mother at the family's New York home.

Georgescu said help from the State Department had made it possible for the boys to leave Romania, He refused to disclose details, saying only "We're most grateful to those who helped us." The State Department in Washington said no concessions were granted Romania to win the boys' freedom.

Romanian Diplomat Ousted

Georgescu said he did not know until two weeks ago that the boys would be allowed to leave Romania. The last time he saw his sons was in 1947 when he and his wife left Bucharest, where he was branch chief of Standard Oil of New Jersey, for a two-month visit to the United States.

"As a representative of American capital they wouldn't let me come back," he said, "and refused to let our sons join us."

The State Department disclosed last May that Georgescu had told them Christache Zambeti, first secretary of the Romanian legation, tried to blackmail him into spying for the Reds in order to regain his sons.

Georgescu refused and his report to the State Department forced the recall of Zambeti, who left protesting that he had been framed.

Proposed Slash In Farm Surplus Aid Under Fire

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The administration's plan to slash the sending of surplus farm goods overseas, under the U.S. foreign aid program, came under sharp attack today by some Republicans and Democrats on the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

One of those protesting, Rep. Fulton (R-Pa), urged that the purchase of farm surplus be stepped up instead—to as much as one billion dollars worth in the next fiscal year.

Conflicting views were aired at a hearing on the administration's proposal to furnish $3,497,700,000 in foreign aid in the year beginning July 1, more than half of it to countries in the Far East and Pacific.

Dr. D. A. Fitzgerald, deputy to Foreign Operations Director Harold E. Stassen, said his agency plans to spend 55 or 60 million dollars for farm surplus, compared with 241 millions this year. That would be a cut of about 60 per cent.

In answer to protests, Fitzgerald said there is no easy solution to the problem of surpluses for the needy abroad. The food is available, he said, but the hungry overseas don't have the money to pay for it.

"Let's feed the hungry!" declared Fulton. "We've done it before on a Santa Claus basis."

Reps. Morano (R-Conn) and Burleson (D-Tex) voiced agreement.

Weeps As Husband, Sons Reunited

Mrs. Lygia Georgescu weeps in new New York apartment after looking over Associated Press radiophotos of the reunion of her husband, Valeriu, with their two sons, Peter, 15, and Constantin, 19, in Frankfurt, Germany, yesterday. Their two sons reached Germany after being allowed to leave Communist Romania. They were met by their father, a Romanian-born American businessman who had refused to be blackmailed into spying to win the release of his sons from Romania. Mrs. Georgescu has not seen the boys in seven years.

Soviet Against West's Palestine Debate Plan

UNITED NATIONS, April 12 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky lined up wth the Arab countries today against a Western Power plan for a general debate on the tense situation between Israel and Jordan.

The threat of a walkout by Lebanon from the Security Council hung over the delegates as Vishinsky, whose country frist used the walkout as a policy instrument eight years ago, said it is not expedient or necessary to lump together conflicting Israeli and Arab complaints.

Vishinsky thus pushed a step farther the new turn of Soviet diplomacy in siding with the Arabs in disputes with the West or in their unending conflict with Israel.

West Plan Called Unfair

Charles Malik, Lebanese delegate, and sole Arab sitting on the Council, denounced the Western plan as "unfair." He said it was an attempt to smother discussion of the Israeli raid on Nahalin which cost nine Arab lives.

Malik did not mention threats voiced by Arabs that Lebanon might withdraw if the West wins its point.

He repeatedly urged the West not to try and force a decision on the Arabs.

The Council adjourned at 6:55 p.m. EST until Thursday at 3:00 p.m. EST without deciding how to tackle the urgent problems brought up by Lebanon and Israel.

Raids By Israelis, Arabs Charged

The debate continued through a second long session of the Council.

Malik with Vishinsky's help, demanded that the Council take up first a charge by Jordan, sponsored by Lebanon, that militarily trained Israelis raided Nahalin, a Jordan village, and killed the Arabs.

Countering this complaint is a general charge by Israel that Arabs from Jordan carried out 29 incursions into Israel within the last five months, that Jordan refuses to come to a conference on their border troubles, and that Jordan is violating the armistice.

Vishinsky said that earlier this year he had maintained that rival Israel and Egyptian complaints involving Suez Canal shipping restrictions should be debated together.

Famed Atom Scientist Reported Suspended

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—The New York Times says famed physicist Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, who directed the making of the first atomic bomb, has been suspended on security grounds by the Atomic Energy Commission.

A panel of the commission's Personnel Security Board, headed by Gordon Gray, president of the University of North Carolina and former secretary of the Army, started hearings on the case today, the Times said.

Meanwhile, the dispatch by James Reston from Washington says, Oppenheimer has been denied access to all government security documents.

Java And Tomato Juice Give Assist To Huge Airliner

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 12 (AP)—Coffee and tomato juice prevented what might have been a damaging accident to a big Eastern Airlines plane at the Municipal Airport here yesterday.

The big ship, a Constellation aircoach, was bound from New York to New Orleans and was not scheduled to stop here. But hydraulic fluid leaked from the landing gear and crew members decided to bring it down and transfer the 35 passengers to another plane.

Fluid was needed to replace that lost. The only fluid available — coffee and tomato juice aboard to be served to passengers — was pumped into the system two hours as the plane circled.

The big ship landed safely, undamaged.

"Operation Cleanup"

HAGERSTOWN, April 12 (AP) — Two pigeons flew in and perched on a ledge over Magistrate William Kreykenbohm's bench today while he was holding court.

"Stand back and watch out," the magistrate advised while he went ahead with the business.

115 Years Maximum Length Of Human Life, Experts Say

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—No matter how well you feel today, one fact is inescapable. You can't count on ever reaching your 116th birthday.

The National Geographic Society, which has been looking into these things, reports that most experts agree that 112, 113 or maybe even 115 appears to be the maximum length of human life.

Still, a surprisingly large number of U. S. citizens are making every effort to make the experts look silly: 4,500 of us are 100 years old or older.

To be sure, history has provided what would appear to be exceptions to the 115-year rule.

Methuselah reached 969, although his age has been open to various interpretations.

A Dane reportedly became a bridegroom at 111 and lived happily ever after. Or, anyway, until he was 145. A Javanese reputedly died at 148, while old Thomas Parr, the Shropshire lad who died in the reign of Charles I, reportedly lasted until he was 152.

And so on up the scale until we reach the Russians, who win this race, too. They claim one of their women died at 180.

In this country many people claim to be 120 or more. But since they have no proofs to back up their claims they don't get far with the demographers. (That is high class for people who study population statistics).

An oldtimer's memory sometimes slips a cog; sometimes it's encouraged to slip because communities make such a fuss over a centenarian.

Oddly, although science has figured out many a way to prolong a man's life, it still hasn't found a way to make him live past 115. Demographers think that in all recorded history that's about the maximum a man could expect.

U.S. Asks Release Of 32 Americans Held In Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 12 (AP)—The United States appealed today for the immediate release of 32 American citizens, including two newspapermen and several missionaries, held by Communist China.

The appeal was made in the U. N. Economic and Social Council by U. S. Delegate Preston Hotchkis, who warned that the United States will continue to press the question in the U. N. and elsewhere.

Hotchkis blasted Communist countries generally for their treatment of Americans, particularly three newspapermen. These were William N. Oatis, former Associated Press bureau chief in Prague, who was imprisoned by Czechoslovak authorities; Donald Dixon, International News Service, and Richard Applegate, national Broadcasting Company. Dixon and Applegate are held by Red China.

Hotchkis noted that Oatis was freed last year and is now a correspondent at the U.N., but that no information could be obtained about Applegate, Dixon and the 30 others held by the Chinese Reds. Referring to Applegate and Dixon he said:

"For more than a year these newspapermen have been held incommunicado in a Chinese Communist jail, while the authorities of that regime have ignored completely the repeated inquiries and protests of my government, and from relatives, friends and colleagues of the unfortunate journalists and their traveling companions who were seized with them."

Hotchkis said the only crime of the 32 prisoners appears to be "that they were American journalists, missionaries or businessmen or students."

Commissioner Resigns; Files Seized, Frozen

Cole Reports Abuses Under Repair Setup, Apartment Financing

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The government today launched a wholesale investigation of alleged frauds against home owners, and Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole forecast the dismissal of "numerous Federal Housing Administration officials.

FHA Commissioner Guy T. O. Hollyday resigned. President Eisenhower accepted his resignation and ordered the seizure and "freezing" of FHA files pending an inquiry by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Cole said Hollyday resigned in order to step aside and permit others to explore his agency. The housing chief said Hollyday "in my opinion is a good Christian gentleman."

Cole, who as head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency supervises FHA operations, ordered withdrawal of the acceptance of the resignation last week of a second official—Clyde L. Powell, assistant FHA commissioner for rental housing.

"Negligent Operation"

Cole said he wanted to keep Powell in the government service until "it can be determined whether he is personally responsible for what I deem very negligent operation of the program."

Powell is from St. Louis, Mo.

Fourteen senior officials of the FHA will find their conduct under scrutiny, Cole told a news conference.

He said "numerous" of them will lose their jobs, but not all.

Cole issued a statement saying there have been:

1. Alleged "serious irregularities and abuses" in the home modernization and repair program, whereby some home owners have been charged twice the value of repair jobs and in some cases obtained "shoddy" work to boot.

2. Evidence of "illegal or unethical actions" in the financing of FHA-insured apartment projects under "Title 608," the so-called middle-income rental housing program which expired in 1950.

Mortgages Exceeded Cost

The housing chief said investigation has turned up 251 cases in which FHA insured mortgages on apartment houses exceeded the actual cost of the projects.

The "windfall" to the promoters in those cases alone was "well over 75 million dollars," Cole said. The government may have to stand a good part of that sum.

Cole said Hollyday might be responsible for some of the abuses under the housing repair program because: "I believe he has been aware of it and did not act."

But the abuses in the apartment-house program occurred prior to expiration of that title in 1950, Cole emphasized, so that Hollyday could not have been involved in that. He was appointed by Eisenhower a year ago.

Brownell Offers Anti-Red Plan

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell today handed a House Judiciary subcommittee a 10-point legislative program aimed against the Communist movement which he described as "the advance guard of the military power of Russia."

Brownell said he believes that a tightening up of present laws and the passage of additional measures will make up "a comprehensive and effective program to destroy the Communist menace."

The total package, he said, would be more effective than legislation outlawing the Communist party in this country.

The House group, headed by Rep. Graham (R-Pa), is studying a number of bills to outlaw the party in one way or another.

Brownell, who has made public previously his proposals for anti-subversion legislation, suggested that outlawing the party would cause it to go underground and make it tougher for the FBI to keep it under surveillance.

He also said constitutional questions might result from such legislation, leading to prolonged court tests which would interfere with efforts to expose Communists and their activities.

Former Marine General Seeks GOP Nomination For Governor

Del Valle Challenges McKeldin Leadership

ANNAPOLIS, April 12 (AP) — A retired Marine Corps general who has had a hand in international business and counter-intelligence filed for the Republican nomination for governor today.

Lt. Gen. Pedro (Pete) Del Valle unexpectedly entered the scrap as only one week remained for Gov. McKeldin and any others interested to make their move.

No doubt exists that McKeldin will seek a second term in the Statehouse. But, no decision has yet been made on the timing or manner of his announcement.

The deadline for filing is next Monday. Candidates may withdraw and regain their filing fee within the following week. The primaries will be held June 28.

Del Valle was the second Republican to challenge McKeldin's GOP leadership. Temus R. (Tim) Bright, Baltimore auto dealer, signed up last year with promises of a campaign by helicopter and such trappings as hillbilly bands.

Del Valle filed with a statement asserting a governor should speak out for state's rights and calling for more emphasis on the states in apportioning tax sources with the federal government.

The retired officer disclosed no tie-ups with regular elements of the Republican party, an organization on which McKeldin holds priority.

Of Spanish extraction, Del Valle was educated in Baltimore schools and graduated from the Naval Academy in 1915. He retired from the Marine Corps in 1948 and lives near Elkridge in Howard County.

Del Valle commanded the 1st Marine Division at Okinawa and received the Distinguished Service Medal. Earlier he had led the division's artillery on Guadalcanal.

After leaving the service he joined the International Telephone and Telegraph Co., becoming president of the firm for South America. His campaign announcement said that after the war he "developed a counter-intelligence plan to assist rebellious groups in the satellite nations in their efforts to free themselves from domination by the Soviet Union."

Del Valle was a founder and is now president of the Defenders of the American Constitution. His statement said the organization currently is trying to obtain the release of an American soldier imprisoned in France after trial by a French court without a jury.

Mahoney Assails Byrd 'Life Line'

BALTIMORE, April 12 (AP) — George P. Mahoney today made a new attack on H. C. Byrd, his rival for the Democratic nomination for governor, for staying on the payroll at the University of Maryland.

Byrd quit last January as president of the university but was retained by the board of regents for a year as president emeritus at his full salary.

He has announced he intends to apply for a pension and retire as of June 30.

Mahoney said today:

"Another month has rolled around and Byrd still continues to campaign for public office while remaining on the public payroll at $22,500 a year.

"This means that he will draw the highest salary on the State payroll during the entire course of the primary campaign and for two days thereafter.

"He is maintaining a life line back to the University of Maryland while he is running.

"I see by the newspapers that certain political 'leaders' are supposed to be risking their political futures on a Byrd victory. If that is the case, they exhibit considerably more confidence than their chosen candidate for governor.

"These 'leaders' may be risking their futures, but Byrd hangs on tightly to that lifeline to the university. He is playing it safe by staying on the payroll right through the election."

U. S. Navy Takes Over From Globemasters

PUSAN, Korea, Tuesday, April 13 (AP)—The Navy yesterday began ferrying U. S. troops from Korea to Japan for rest leaves, taking over from huge Globemasters believed diverted to Indochina.

The Far East Command announced last week that some of the Globemasters were diverted to other duties, but refused to say where. It was reported reliably they had been assigned to an emergency airlift operation for the French, hard pressed in Indochina.

Ships will continue to carry the men to and from Japan until Globemasters once more become available.

Mysterious Fall Fatal To Seaman

BALTIMORE, April 12 (AP) — Police continued their investigation today of a five-story plunge that took the life of a young Long Island seaman and brought critical injuries to a Baltimore girl.

Investigators said they had not been able to determine how the couple tumbled from the fifth floor balcony of a fashionable mid-town apartment house last night.

David Chertoff of Lido Beach, N.Y., a 19-year-old seaman stationed at Norfolk, Va., died today of a ruptured spleen and other injuries.

In critical condition at Mercy Hospital was his companion, 17-year-old Marian Hoff. She had fractures of the skull and pelvis and internal injuries.

Sen. Dwight Griswold Dies Of Heart Attack

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Sen. Dwight D. Griswold (R-Neb), three times governor of his state, died of a heart attack early today.

A big, robust man of 60, Griswold was a former banker and newspaper publisher. In 1947 - 48, he headed the U. S. economic-military aid mission to Greece, one of several high posts to which he was appointed under the Democratic administration of President Truman.

He was elected to the Senate two years ago to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry. Griswold had not said publicly whether he planned to seek re-election next fall but friends said he had expected to be a candidate.

What do women think of stocks?

[ONE-MINUTE INTERVIEWS]

MRS. AGNES R. DAVIS, housewife, Oakland, California

"Owning stocks gives me a real interest in the world of business. I have great confidence in my broker. He helps me buy shares in solid, dependable companies and makes good suggestions on what to buy and when. I like knowing I can sell my stocks whenever I want to."

CAROLYN HUTCHINS, script coordinator, Pittsburgh, Penn.

"To me stocks offer the investment a woman wants. It's nice to know I own part of a big company that is making money. I buy more shares every time I have money to spare and I am counting on the dividends to add to my income when I retire."

GERTRUDE WEBER, Buffalo, New York

"Lots of women buy stock just to get dividends. I like owning stock in a company that is going ahead. It's exciting to watch it grow. If a company doesn't make good progress, I have the broker sell the stock, and we pick another."

Ever wish you could talk to someone about stocks? Find out what profit they are making? What dividends they earn? Which seem to be headed up in value?

Lots of people wish there were some place they could get honest opinions and advice about stock. Well, there is. Any member firm of the New York Stock Exchange is glad to help you without charge. Just write or call. They'll answer your questions about investments.

Piracci Case Due To Reach Jury Today

BALTIMORE, April 12 (AP) — State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro denied "emphatically" from the witness stand today that he sought erasure of his name from the books of the Piracci Construction Co.

Sodaro, refuting testimony last Friday in the trial of Dominic Piracci, charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice in a probe of the city's off-street parking program, also denied telling Mrs. Nancy D'Alesandro, wife of the mayor, he had sought removal of his name from Piracci records to save "embarrassment."

Testimony was concluded today and the case will go to the jury after final arguments tomorrow.

Piracci, testifying in his own defense earlier today, is accused of conspiring to obstruct justice by removing names of prominent persons from his records and by preparing a "phony" ledger called for by the grand jury.

The State contends the contractor made 94 erasures in his ledgers, including the names of Mayor D'Alesandro and Mrs. D'Alesandro.

Hawaii-Alaska Bill Hits Snag

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The Hawaii-Alaska statehood bill ran into a snag in the House today. But its backers voiced growing optimism the two states can be brought into the union at this session of Congress, even if Alaska has to be split up first.

A single objection—offered by House Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas today—prevented the holding of a Senate-House conference on statehood legislation. A motion to send a bill to conference requires unanimous consent.

This means the Senate-approved Hawaii-Alaska bill can come to a vote in the House only if (1) the Rules Committee gives it a special ruling, or (2) a vote is petitioned in writing by 218 House members.

There has been strong sentiment in the Rules Committee against statehood for Alaska. The committee has pigeonholed a separate Alaska statehood bill.

Chairman Miller (R-Neb) of the House Interior Committee told reporters however, it is "quite possible" the rules body now will approve sending the combined Hawaii-Alaska bill to a conference with the Senate.

Volunteer Has Tars From Cigarette Smoke Painted On His Skin In Cancer Test

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., April 12 (AP)—A human volunteer—"a gray-haired deep-voice scientist" — is having tars from cigarette smoke painted on his skin to see if they can cause skin cancer.

Other dangerous chemicals known to cause cancer are being painted on his skin, for comparison.

The man, a New Yorker not otherwise identified, is relatively safe in this bold experiment. Any skin cancers which were started could easily be removed in time.

It is a new step toward solving the question whether some chemical in cigarette smoke is causing human lung cancer.

The human test plus other smoking experiments were described today to the American Assn. for Cancer Research by Dr. William E. Smith of New York University Post-graduate Medical School.

Concentrated tars from cigarette smoke have produced skin cancers in mice, when painted on their skins for months to a year.

But it is a long jump from mice to men on this cancer question.

So far the man's skin, on back or arm, painted with cigarette tars has not shown the changes caused in mice skin by those tars, or by other chemicals which are known to cause skin cancers, Dr. Smith said.

In mice, known cancer chemicals cause loss of hair, destruction of sweat glands within four days, and enlargement of tiny structures within the nuclei of skin cells.

The man did not lose any hair or sweat glands.

Man Held For Biting Off Woman's Finger

BALTIMORE, April 12 (AP)—Held for grand jury action under $1,000 bail today was Benjamin Bell, 38, accused of biting off a woman's finger.

Bell leaded innocent but acknowledged he and a neighbor, Elizabeth Robinson, fought after she got angry when he stuck his finger into a pot of fish on her stove.

Illinois Primary Race Wide Open

CHICAGO, April 12 (AP) — The oratorical cannonading faded away today and Illinois will choose in tomorrow's primary from Republican senatorial candidates pledged almost solidly against putting American soldiers into the Indochinese War.

All the candidates—nine of them—have taken a stand in some form or another against using American troops to halt Communists on Indochinese battlefields. But with two of the nine it was more an expression of hope than an outright promise to oppose intervention under any circumstances.

The Republican senatorial scrap is the big event of the primary—the first in the nation to pick party rivals to fight it out in November for control of Congress.

The man who comes out on top tomorrow will tackle Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas.

He was elected to the Senate two years ago to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry. Griswold had not said publicly whether he planned to seek re-election next fall but friends said he had expected to be a candidate.

What do women think of stocks?

[ONE-MINUTE INTERVIEWS]

MRS. AGNES R. DAVIS, housewife, Oakland, California

"Owning stocks gives me a real interest in the world of business. I have great confidence in my broker. He helps me buy shares in solid, dependable companies and makes good suggestions on what to buy and when. I like knowing I can sell my stocks whenever I want to."

CAROLYN HUTCHINS, script coordinator, Pittsburgh, Penn.

"To me stocks offer the investment a woman wants. It's nice to know I own part of a big company that is making money. I buy more shares every time I have money to spare and I am counting on the dividends to add to my income when I retire."

GERTRUDE WEBER, Buffalo, New York

"Lots of women buy stock just to get dividends. I like owning stock in a company that is going ahead. It's exciting to watch it grow. If a company doesn't make good progress, I have the broker sell the stock, and we pick another."

Ever wish you could talk to someone about stocks? Find out what profit they are making? What dividends they earn? Which seem to be headed up in value?

Lots of people wish there were some place they could get honest opinions and advice about stock. Well, there is. Any member firm of the New York Stock Exchange is glad to help you without charge. Just write or call. They'll answer your questions about investments.

Piracci Case Due To Reach Jury Today

BALTIMORE, April 12 (AP) — State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro denied "emphatically" from the witness stand today that he sought erasure of his name from the books of the Piracci Construction Co.

Sodaro, refuting testimony last Friday in the trial of Dominic Piracci, charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice in a probe of the city's off-street parking program, also denied telling Mrs. Nancy D'Alesandro, wife of the mayor, he had sought removal of his name from Piracci records to save "embarrassment."

Testimony was concluded today and the case will go to the jury after final arguments tomorrow.

Piracci, testifying in his own defense earlier today, is accused of conspiring to obstruct justice by removing names of prominent persons from his records and by preparing a "phony" ledger called for by the grand jury.

The State contends the contractor made 94 erasures in his ledgers, including the names of Mayor D'Alesandro and Mrs. D'Alesandro.

Hawaii-Alaska Bill Hits Snag

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The Hawaii-Alaska statehood bill ran into a snag in the House today. But its backers voiced growing optimism the two states can be brought into the union at this session of Congress, even if Alaska has to be split up first.

A single objection—offered by House Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas today—prevented the holding of a Senate-House conference on statehood legislation. A motion to send a bill to conference requires unanimous consent.

This means the Senate-approved Hawaii-Alaska bill can come to a vote in the House only if (1) the Rules Committee gives it a special ruling, or (2) a vote is petitioned in writing by 218 House members.

There has been strong sentiment in the Rules Committee against statehood for Alaska. The committee has pigeonholed a separate Alaska statehood bill.

Chairman Miller (R-Neb) of the House Interior Committee told reporters however, it is "quite possible" the rules body now will approve sending the combined Hawaii-Alaska bill to a conference with the Senate.

Volunteer Has Tars From Cigarette Smoke Painted On His Skin In Cancer Test

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., April 12 (AP)—A human volunteer—"a gray-haired deep-voice scientist" — is having tars from cigarette smoke painted on his skin to see if they can cause skin cancer.

Other dangerous chemicals known to cause cancer are being painted on his skin, for comparison.

The man, a New Yorker not otherwise identified, is relatively safe in this bold experiment. Any skin cancers which were started could easily be removed in time.

It is a new step toward solving the question whether some chemical in cigarette smoke is causing human lung cancer.

The human test plus other smoking experiments were described today to the American Assn. for Cancer Research by Dr. William E. Smith of New York University Post-graduate Medical School.

Concentrated tars from cigarette smoke have produced skin cancers in mice, when painted on their skins for months to a year.

But it is a long jump from mice to men on this cancer question. So far the man's skin, on back or arm, painted with cigarette tars has not shown the changes caused in mice skin by those tars, or by other chemicals which are known to cause skin cancers, Dr. Smith said.

In mice, known cancer chemicals cause loss of hair, destruction of sweat glands within four days, and enlargement of tiny structures within the nuclei of skin cells.

The man did not lose any hair or sweat glands.

Man Held For Biting Off Woman's Finger

BALTIMORE, April 12 (AP)—Held for grand jury action under $1,000 bail today was Benjamin Bell, 38, accused of biting off a woman's finger.

Bell leaded innocent but acknowledged he and a neighbor, Elizabeth Robinson, fought after she got angry when he stuck his finger into a pot of fish on her stove.

Illinois Primary Race Wide Open

CHICAGO, April 12 (AP) — The oratorical cannonading faded away today and Illinois will choose in tomorrow's primary from Republican senatorial candidates pledged almost solidly against putting American soldiers into the Indochinese War.

All the candidates—nine of them—have taken a stand in some form or another against using American troops to halt Communists on Indochinese battlefields. But with two of the nine it was more an expression of hope than an outright promise to oppose intervention under any circumstances.

The Republican senatorial scrap is the big event of the primary—the first in the nation to pick party rivals to fight it out in November for control of Congress.

The man who comes out on top tomorrow will tackle Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas.

Election Planned Thursday By Route 40 Association

The Route 40 Association will elect officers at a meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the social room at the Cumberland Brewing Company.

State Senator Robert B. Kimble has been invited to attend for a discussion on highway improvements.

Association officials said they will ask Senator Kimble to do what he can in having the section of Route 40 between Cumberland and Hancock improved on a "speed up" system.

The association will spend $3,000 this year to send out 100,000 folders on U. S. Route 40's historic and scenic features. The folders will include photographs of scenes in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Earle R. Poorbaugh, director of the State Information Service, has informed the association he will include the group's folders in all letters from tourists seeking information about Maryland.

Poorbaugh also has informed the association that the Chicago Motor Club has requested folders of the Route 40 Association for distribution to 55 affiliated clubs in Illinois and Indiana.

The folders sent out last year resulted in an increase in tourist traffic from the midwest by way of Route 40, officials of the association said. Besides the association folders, the state pamphlets sent out has also helped publicize tourist attractions in Maryland, they added.

Jesse Rankin Injured In Highway Accident

HAGERSTOWN — Jesse Rankin, 39, of Cumberland, suffered a scalp laceration and a dislocated hip when the car he was driving smashed into the rear of a truck that was being checked for weight at Hopewell last Friday.

State Police who investigated the accident said Rankin was driving east at the time and apparently disregarded the signals of a State Roads Commission weighing crew which was checking a truck driven by Hunter Dailey, of Berkeley Springs. Dailey's truck was loaded with lumber.

Rankin, who was admitted to Washington County Hospital, was reported in satisfactory condition. State Police charged him with reckless driving.

Council Accepts Routine Reports

The Mayor and Council transacted a number of routine matters at its regular meeting yesterday morning. Business filed or acted upon included:

Water consumption for the week ending yesterday was 84,490,000 gallons compared to 77,550,000 the same period a year ago. The water level at Lake Gordon is six feet below the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon nine feet, six inches below.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said the Health Department in March reported 21 communicable diseases, 21 dental clinics with 172 patients; 151 births and 71 deaths.

Meter collections for the week of March 28-April 6 decreased $4.18, from $557.84, according to Inspector Harry Whisner.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson was authorized to issue a check for $91.50 to George R. Hughes, attorney, for title work on property needed for the flood control project.

Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to order a map of Maryland at a cost of $47.50.

Checks will be issued city employes Thursday, council ordered.

A sum of $250 was ordered paid William G. Beier for a tract of land needed in the flood project on West side. City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained the federal government had asked the transaction be completed because of the time element. The West Side phase expense will be the government's responsibility and the city will receive credit or reimbursement for the amount involved, Finan said.

Commissioner Lucile Roeder suggested the city send a letter of congratulations and best wishes to Mrs. Harold R. Smith, 607 Shriver Avenue, who with her husband and triplet daughters, leaves Thursday for Daytona Beach, Fla., to participate as "Mrs. Maryland" in the national bakeoff and housekeeping contest. Council concurred.

Park Concession Bids Being Sought Here

The Mayor and Council has authorized the Park Board to ask for bids on operation of the concession and bathhouse at Constitution Park.

Commissioner Lucile Roeder was authorized to advertise for bids on calcium chloride in car load lots for the street dust laying program.

Action Taken To Erase TV "Ghosts" Here

Potomac Valley Television Company has taken steps to eliminate "ghosts" on antenna equipped sets in the Williams Street area, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum reported to the Mayor and Council today.

In reply to a complaint registered last week by Dr. A. J. Mozzer, Nuzum said he had been informed by the TV cable firm it had grounded amplifiers along the street as well as every tenth pole, an added percaution to keep radiation at a minimum.

Nuzum said the company assured him it would do all possible to keep down interference.

Kennedy To Head Playground Group

Andrew Kennedy was elected president of the Pennsylvania Avenue Playground Association at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. William Baldwin.

Other officers named are Mrs. Bernice Shumaker, vice president; Mrs. Harry Hall, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Miller, secretary, and Mrs. Baldwin, assistant secretary.

The association decided to sponsor Gary Butts in the Soap Box Derby to be held in July under sponsorship of Times-News and Eiler Chevrolet Company.

Robert E. Pence, director of the Cumberland Recreation Department, spoke at the meeting. A buffet lunch was served.

Powder Firm Plans Plant In Birmingham

The Hercules Powder Company and Alabama By-Products Corporation have announced plans for a joint undertaking of the building of a plant to produce anhydrous ammonia.

The plant, which will be located in the vicinity of Birmingham, Alabama, is expected to produce 45,000 tons annually.

To Close Good Friday

City Hall offices and departments will close at noon Good Friday as provided in an order approved by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Returns To Duty

Deputy Sheriff Louis T. Helman has resumed his duties after being hospitalized for five days for observation and treatment.

City Purchases 215 New Parking Meters

The city will pay $10,642.50 for 215 new, single parking meters out of meter revenues beginning July 1.

The low bid, submitted last week by Duncan Autom-A-Ton Meter Company, was approved yesterday by the Mayor and Council. The order, signed by Commissioner John J. Long, said the city will furnish pipe and the company will install meters. Payments will be made on the basis of 50 per cent of the revenue.

Long said the meters will be installed as soon as they arrive, and that the company is giving the city $12 each for old meters which are being replaced.

Mayor R. W. Eves said a study should be made to determine where the new meters will give the best effect. Long replied that the chief of police, R. Emmett Flynn, has a record of complaints. New meters will be placed in the downtown area where they get the most use. Older meters will be moved to less-busy sections, he added. The time mechanism can be adjusted to suit the parking limitations in various sections, it was said.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained the credit of the city is not involved in the meter purchase, but that the purchase will affect revenues which have been going into the general fund. Payment he said is entirely from meter receipts and could take 10 or 15 years or be paid off within two years depending upon receipts.

During the past fiscal year, parking meters brought in a net of $24,439, which was placed in the city's general fund.

Guy F. Long Is Appointed Temporary Weighmaster

The Mayor and Council unanimously approved appointment of Guy F. Long as temporary weighmaster yesterday after a pre-council session resulted in a discussion over which of two department heads should sign the order.

The order originally came before the council signed by Commissioner Lucile Roeder. Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan challenged her right and said "It is the only appointment I have as finance commissioner.'

Long is to serve during the illness of Harry Hilleary at a rate of $207.90 a month, effective today.

Mrs. Roeder said Hilleary had been ill for weeks and her department had filled in for him. But Keegan replied he would not have someone overstepping authority by coming into another department to make an appointment.

"Nobody," he said, "can sign that order but me. Let's keep things according to Hoyle.'

Mrs. Roeder said in that case she thought Keegan should have some one there (weighhouse) all the time instead of her department watchmen filling in for Hilleary, in addition to their regular duties.

Keegan said he was in favor of Long having the job but that he was "standing up for my rights.'

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained that the 1950 edition of the code called for blanket approval of the weighmaster by the Mayor and Council. He added as far as he could see only the Mayor and Council could make the appointment, and since weight funds are turned into the finance department it apparently meant that the weighmaster was responsible to that department.

Mrs. Roeder said she didn't see what difference would be made in who signed the order. A new order was drawn under Keegan's signature and Long's appointment approved later at the regular meeting.

Long has been employed by the city since April, 1932, first as a truck driver and in recent years as operator of the Street Department sweeper.

He has been off work since June 24, 1953, as a result of illness which necessitated the amputation of a toe on April 26, 1953, and the amputation of a leg above the knee this February 17.

The charge service on Easter will feature a reception of new members, the pastor stated. The sermon that day will be on "The Spiritual Reality of Easter."

Two resolutions were read into the record yesterday by the Mayor and Council.

One commends A. L. Sutton, 821 Shriver Avenue, who retires April 30 after 49 years of continuous service in the city's Engineering Department. The resolution, a copy of which will be sent Sutton, expresses gratitude for a "job well done."

A resolution of respect was read to the memory of the late Myers G. Light, a former city commissioner, and a copy was ordered sent to Mrs. Light.

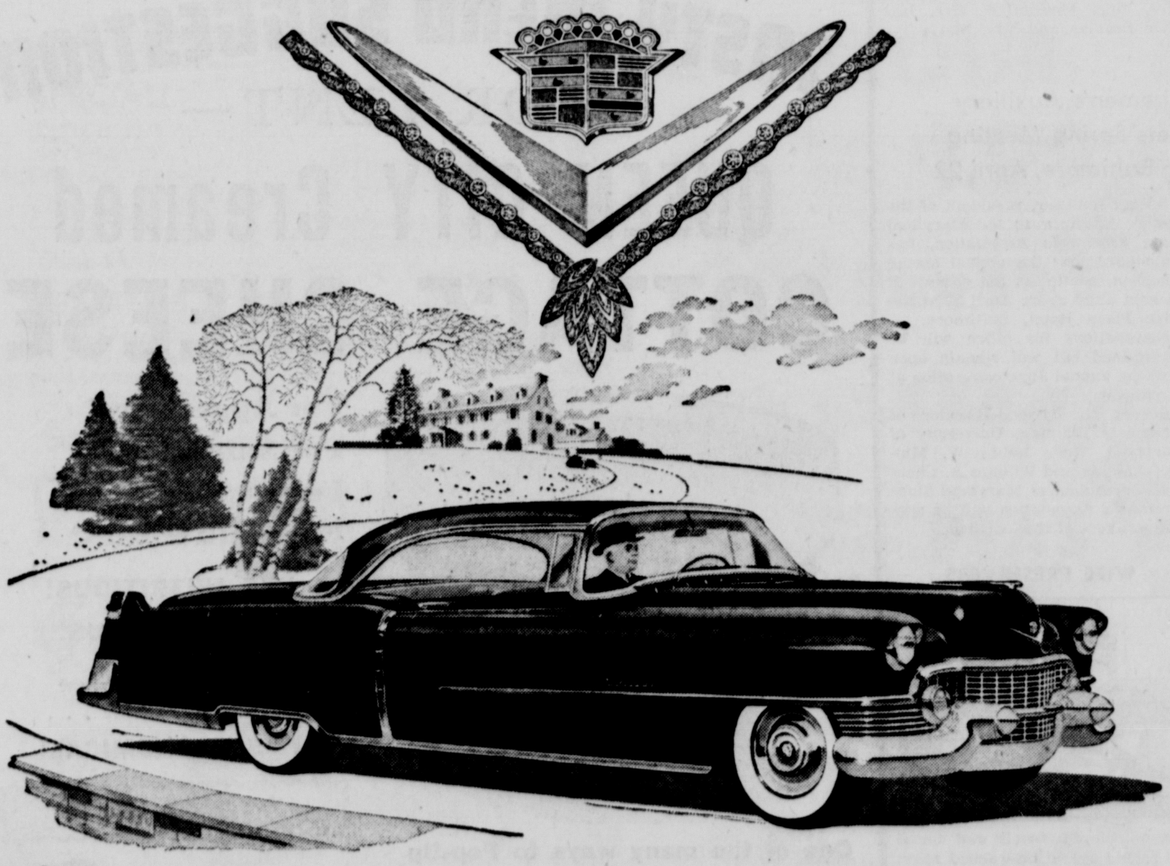
Cadillac



Starting the Day with an Hour's Rest!

It's about an hour from his home to his office—but he doesn't think of it as a drive at all.

He just settles back in the deep, comfortable seat—rests his hand on the inviting wheel—looks out over the hood in the general direction of the office—and starts to relax.

Comes first, the ten-mile stretch in the country.

If the car were standing still, it could not be smoother or softer or quieter—as it loafs over the broad, winding highway. There's only the faint sound of the wind, plus the receding trees and posts and buildings, to give him a sense of movement.

Almost before it begins, it seems, the ten-mile stretch is over—and a sign announces the city's limits. The soft pressure of his foot shifts from accelerator to brake—and the big car settles down easily, smoothly and quickly to the prescribed speed.

And then begins the real wizardry of Cadillac performance. Stop and go—in and out—roll and creep . . . all regulated with the slightest touch of toe and hand. Insofar as the driver is concerned, it's just as easy as the open road—a little slower, of course, but just as calm and relaxing.

And maybe a little bit nicer, in one notable respect—for now there are drivers all about him—stealing glances at his beautiful car, and wondering who's the fortunate person whose name is on the title!

What a car—for highway or street! Owners say the hours behind its wheel are among the finest hours of the day—restful, relaxing and inspiring.

If you haven't as yet driven a 1954 Cadillac—you've been missing something wonderful! Better come in soon—for the most revealing hour you ever spent behind the wheel of a motor car.

Long, said the city will furnish pipe and the company will install meters. Payments will be made on the basis of 50 per cent of the revenue.

Long said the meters will be installed as soon as they arrive, and that the company is giving the city $12 each for old meters which are being replaced.

Mayor R. W. Eves said a study should be made to determine where the new meters will give the best effect. Long replied that the chief of police, R. Emmett Flynn, has a record of complaints. New meters will be placed in the downtown area where they get the most use. Older meters will be moved to less-busy sections, he added. The time mechanism can be adjusted to suit the parking limitations in various sections, it was said.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained the credit of the city is not involved in the meter purchase, but that the purchase will affect revenues which have been going into the general fund. Payment he said is entirely from meter receipts and could take 10 or 15 years or be paid off within two years depending upon receipts.

During the past fiscal year, parking meters brought in a net of $24,439, which was placed in the city's general fund.

Guy F. Long Is Appointed Temporary Weighmaster

The Mayor and Council unanimously approved appointment of Guy F. Long as temporary weighmaster yesterday after a pre-council session resulted in a discussion over which of two department heads should sign the order.

The order originally came before the council signed by Commissioner Lucile Roeder. Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan challenged her right and said "It is the only appointment I have as finance commissioner.'

Long is to serve during the illness of Harry Hilleary at a rate of $207.90 a month, effective today.

Mrs. Roeder said Hilleary had been ill for weeks and her department had filled in for him. But Keegan replied he would not have someone overstepping authority by coming into another department to make an appointment.

"Nobody," he said, "can sign that order but me. Let's keep things according to Hoyle.'

Mrs. Roeder said in that case she thought Keegan should have some one there (weighhouse) all the time instead of her department watchmen filling in for Hilleary, in addition to their regular duties.

Keegan said he was in favor of Long having the job but that he was "standing up for my rights.'

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained that the 1950 edition of the code called for blanket approval of the weighmaster by the Mayor and Council. He added as far as he could see only the Mayor and Council could make the appointment, and since weight funds are turned into the finance department it apparently meant that the weighmaster was responsible to that department.

Mrs. Roeder said she didn't see what difference would be made in who signed the order. A new order was drawn under Keegan's signature and Long's appointment approved later at the regular meeting.

Long has been employed by the city since April, 1932, first as a truck driver and in recent years as operator of the Street Department sweeper.

He has been off work since June 24, 1953, as a result of illness which necessitated the amputation of a toe on April 26, 1953, and the amputation of a leg above the knee this February 17.

Two resolutions were read into the record yesterday by the Mayor and Council.

One commends A. L. Sutton, 821 Shriver Avenue, who retires April 30 after 49 years of continuous service in the city's Engineering Department. The resolution, a copy of which will be sent Sutton, expresses gratitude for a "job well done."

A resolution of respect was read to the memory of the late Myers G. Light, a former city commissioner, and a copy was ordered sent to Mrs. Light.

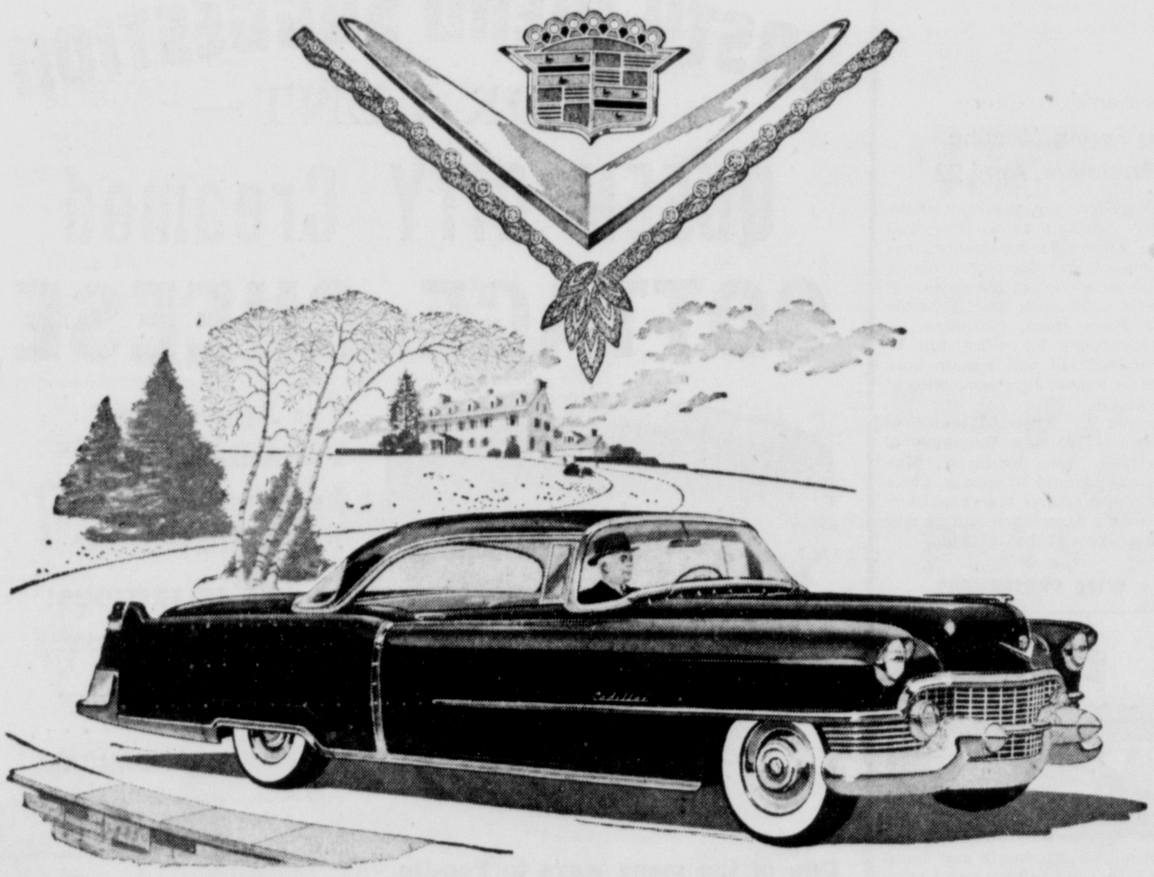
HOUSEWARES — FOURTH FLOOR

Cadillac



Starting the Day with an Hour's Rest!

It's about an hour from his home to his office—but he doesn't think of it as a drive at all.

He just settles back in the deep, comfortable seat—rests his hand on the inviting wheel—looks out over the hood in the general direction of the office—and starts to relax.

Comes first, the ten-mile stretch in the country.

If the car were standing still, it could not be smoother or softer or quieter—as it loafs over the broad, winding highway. There's only the faint sound of the wind, plus the receding trees and posts and buildings, to give him a sense of movement.

Almost before it begins, it seems, the ten-mile stretch is over—and a sign announces the city's limits. The soft pressure of his foot shifts from accelerator to brake—and the big car settles down easily, smoothly and quickly to the prescribed speed.

And then begins the real wizardry of Cadillac performance. Stop and go—in and out—roll and creep . . . all regulated with the slightest touch of toe and hand. Insofar as the driver is concerned, it's just as easy as the open road—a little slower, of course, but just as calm and relaxing.

And maybe a little bit nicer, in one notable respect—for now there are drivers all about him—stealing glances at his beautiful car, and wondering who's the fortunate person whose name is on the title!

What a car—for highway or street! Owners say the hours behind its wheel are among the finest hours of the day—restful, relaxing and inspiring.

If you haven't as yet driven a 1954 Cadillac—you've been missing something wonderful! Better come in soon—for the most revealing hour you ever spent behind the wheel of a motor car.

To be charming, be natural!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The most charming women of my acquaintance are those whose makeup, voice, dress and manner are the most natural. They make no pretense of ultra-sophistication, nor do they adopt the extremes that make a woman stand out in a crowd.

Haven't you noticed the woman whose pasty complexion, over emphasized eyebrows or garish lipstick verges on the absurd? No doubt these affectations are considered by the woman to be a mark of her individuality, yet they succeed only in making her an object of comment.

How much more attractive is the woman who uses her cosmetics to "make down" instead of "make up"! She selects those that compliment her skin and hair coloring, applies them so that they look natural to her, and as much a part of her as her facial characteristics.

Ways of Speech

Extremes in your manner of speaking are as unbecoming as extremes in the application of cosmetics. You learn to use your voice to advantage, as you learn to apply lipstick and rouge to enhance the beauty of lips and cheeks. You smooth the hard "r" and the harsh "a", achieve a tone and pitch pleasing to the ear.

You strive to improve, to speak naturally, but stop short of over-improvement. It is possible you know to "improve" to the point of seeming strained and false, rather than natural and charming.

In dress, too, you emphasize your best features, minimize the less-than-perfect line or curve. You adopt the silhouette that is flattering to your figure, resist the extreme that is high fashion if, for you, it is ridiculous.

If you are tall and very slender, you'll not wear a sheath unless its narrow lines are broken by a jacket or detail at the hipline; if you are short and your poundage exceeds your correct weight, you will avoid the full skirt that cuts your height. The sheath and the full skirt may be fashionable .. but they are extremes that, in these instances, do not make the most of your natural charms.

Natural Manners

What about manners? The unnatural is easy to spot. It may be smile, the exaggerated gesture of your hand, the strut in your walk.

Next time you are in a crowd, make a little game of spotting the unnatural in those about you. Watch, too, the woman whose outward expressions of her personality are most natural. Isn't she the most charming?

Tomorrow: A lilting laugh.

Number Working In W. Va. Mines Skids To 82,900

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 12 (AP) — Employment in West Virginia's principal industry has been declining almost steadily in the last four years.

In April of 1950, the state's coal mines employed 134,400 people. By February of this year, the number of employed had skidded to 82,900.

There appears to be no answer to the inevitable questions: When will it stop? When will laid-off miners be called back to work?

State Mines Chief Frank B. King is concerned about the ominous increase in unemployment, but he has no way of knowing when layoffs and mine failures will stop.

"I wouldn't know how to answer that question," he said, ". . . would you?"

The United States Bureau of Labor Statistics has been keeping monthly mine employment figures for the last five years. These records show that the peak employment month was June, 1948, when 138,000 people were employed by the industry in West Virginia.

The average for 1948 was 131,700. In 1949 the average dropped to 120,000, but had risen again to 122,800 in 1950.

Four years ago—in April, 1950—the state's mines employed 134,400 people. Employment has been declining almost steadily since that month, despite the Korean War which began shortly afterward.

By 1951, the average had slumped to 118,900, in 1952 to 108,900 and in 1953 it plunged to 93,300.

Nash Submits Resignation As Magistrate

McCOOLE — Thomas Nash, a committing magistrate at McCoole, has sent in his resignation to Gov. McKeldin as a result of the Governor's ultimatum to county magistrates not to seek public office while still serving in that capacity.

Nash said he intends to stay in the contest for the House of Delegates on the Republican ticket in the June 28 primary balloting.

Nash's letter to the Governor stated: "Complying with your request to magistrates, I herewith submit my resignation as committing magistrate for District 31 effective immediately. It has been a privilege and a pleasure to have served under your administration."

Another magistrate, Melvin Sloan, of Lonaconing, said today that he has not received any official notification from the Governor on his stand concerning magistrates running for office while still serving in that post.

"When I receive the Governor's notice I intend to submit my resignation as magistrate and continue as a candidate for treasurer of Allegany county."

Sloan said all he knew concerning the situation was what he had read in the newspapers.

The Governor, in his statement, said he felt that magistrates should not "double in brass" by being both a candidate for public office and retain their judicial function. He said it might bring up a question of influence on their magisterial duties.

Number Working In W. Va. Mines Skids To 82,900

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 12 (AP) — Employment in West Virginia's principal industry has been declining almost steadily in the last four years.

In April of 1950, the state's coal mines employed 134,400 people. By February of this year, the number of employed had skidded to 82,900.

There appears to be no answer to the inevitable questions: When will it stop? When will laid-off miners be called back to work?

State Mines Chief Frank B. King is concerned about the ominous increase in unemployment, but he has no way of knowing when layoffs and mine failures will stop.

"I wouldn't know how to answer that question," he said, ". . . would you?"

The United States Bureau of Labor Statistics has been keeping monthly mine employment figures for the last five years. These records show that the peak employment month was June, 1948, when 138,000 people were employed by the industry in West Virginia.

The average for 1948 was 131,700. In 1949 the average dropped to 120,000, but had risen again to 122,800 in 1950.

Four years ago—in April, 1950—the state's mines employed 134,400 people. Employment has been declining almost steadily since that month, despite the Korean War which began shortly afterward.

By 1951, the average had slumped to 118,900, in 1952 to 108,900 and in 1953 it plunged to 93,300.

Nash Submits Resignation As Magistrate

McCOOLE — Thomas Nash, a committing magistrate at McCoole, has sent in his resignation to Gov. McKeldin as a result of the Governor's ultimatum to county magistrates not to seek public office while still serving in that capacity.

Nash said he intends to stay in the contest for the House of Delegates on the Republican ticket in the June 28 primary balloting.

Nash's letter to the Governor stated: "Complying with your request to magistrates, I herewith submit my resignation as committing magistrate for District 31 effective immediately. It has been a privilege and a pleasure to have served under your administration."

Another magistrate, Melvin Sloan, of Lonaconing, said today that he has not received any official notification from the Governor on his stand concerning magistrates running for office while still serving in that post.

"When I receive the Governor's notice I intend to submit my resignation as magistrate and continue as a candidate for treasurer of Allegany county."

Sloan said all he knew concerning the situation was what he had read in the newspapers.

The Governor, in his statement, said he felt that magistrates should not "double in brass" by being both a candidate for public office and retain their judicial function. He said it might bring up a question of influence on their magisterial duties.

Filter Repairs To Get Priority In Water Plans

Report And Action Scheduled Monday

City officials agreed yesterday that modernization of filters at Lake Gordon should take preference over rehabilitation of the Lake Gordon dam, and ordered further study toward that end in continuing its plans to improve the local water works.

Meeting in special session after the regular meeting yesterday, the Mayor and Council asked that City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, go over the plans and report back at another meeting Monday at 11 a. m.

Can Reduce Costs

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the city does not have enough money on hand to do the entire filter job which has been estimated at $380,000. However, he said, it is felt that with the $150,000 water improvement bond issue sold a week ago and other available funds, the first phase of the filter job could be undertaken. This would cost about $220,000.

The $380,000 estimate would cover modernization and housing for the 12 old filters and other related work including construction of two new upflow contact basins to remove much of the sediment before filtration.

Nuzum has said, however, that a plan has been worked out to reduce cost by $160,000 which would fall within available funds. It would also allow remainder of the work to be done later.

Last July 15, six additional filters were completed at a cost of $237,210 boosting capacity from 12 to 18 million gallons.

In the original study by Robert T. Regester, Baltimore consulting engineer, the Lake Gordon dam rehabilitation had been placed before the filter work, Eves said. Hitchcock reported that the Department of Forestry and Water in Pennsylvania favors the dam project first and the city plans to contact that agency concerning its stand and try to get its cooperation in the proposed program.

$243,000 Available

Repair to the face of Gordon dam is a requirement set forth by Pennsylvania. Also proposed is rehabilitation of the dam gatehouse and addition of pumping equipment so full storage of Lake Gordon can be used during dry spells.

Available for the work at Lake Gordon is about $243,000, according Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

The total includes $93,000 which remains from a $200,000 bond issue sold to complete financing of the six new filter units which were placed in service last July, plus $150,000 of Water Improvement bonds sold last week.

However, he said, it is felt that with the $150,000 water improvement bond issue sold a week ago and other available funds, the first phase of the filter job could be undertaken. This would cost about $220,000.

The $380,000 estimate would cover modernization and housing for the 12 old filters and other related work including construction of two new upflow contact basins to remove much of the sediment before filtration.

Nuzum has said, however, that a plan has been worked out to reduce cost by $160,000 which would fall within available funds. It would also allow remainder of the work to be done later.

Last July 15, six additional filters were completed at a cost of $237,210 boosting capacity from 12 to 18 million gallons.

In the original study by Robert T. Regester, Baltimore consulting engineer, the Lake Gordon dam rehabilitation had been placed before the filter work, Eves said. Hitchcock reported that the Department of Forestry and Water in Pennsylvania favors the dam project first and the city plans to contact that agency concerning its stand and try to get its cooperation in the proposed program.

$243,000 Available

Repair to the face of Gordon dam is a requirement set forth by Pennsylvania. Also proposed is rehabilitation of the dam gatehouse and addition of pumping equipment so full storage of Lake Gordon can be used during dry spells.

Available for the work at Lake Gordon is about $243,000, according to Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

The total includes $93,000 which remains from a $200,000 bond issue sold to complete financing of the six new filter units which were placed in service last July, plus $150,000 of Water Improvement bonds sold last week.

• Optimist At Ottawa Expects Upswing

The way the Canadian government handles its fiscal problems should be of great interest to Americans, inasmuch as Canada's economic climate is similar to that of the United States and responds much as this country does to internal and external influences.

So it is good to report that the Ottawa government seems to be doing very well with its finances.

Minister of Finance D. C. Abbott, presenting the annual budget to the Canadian parliament, included in it only a small tax reduction in sales and excise taxes. The total cut amounts to only $36,000,000 in a budget that calls for estimated expenditures of $4,460,000,000—a record peacetime outlay.

But the minister reminded the members that there had been an 11 per cent reduction in income and corporation taxes a year ago and that he looked forward to a 1955 surplus—it will be the ninth in a row if it materializes—of only $4,000,000.

But he was cautiously confident that there will be an economic upswing in the second half of the year that will at least balance the slight downswing experienced so far. He saw no need for the government to start priming the economy. He believes that "the forces of long-term expansion will soon reassert themselves."

Year after year his economic forecasts have been remarkably accurate. Which is all the more reason for finding encouragement in his prospectus for the year ahead.

Report On Glaciers

From Glacier National Park, Mont., the news is good. The retreat of glaciers in the park has been slowed by a change in the weather, according to M. E. Beatty, the park's chief naturalist.

As the only glaciers in the continental United States, every American should be glad that increased rain and snow, despite warmer weather, is a break for the glaciers.

A decade or two ago the park's 60 glaciers were not expected by experts to survive beyond the year 2000.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Red China's Role

John Foster Dulles, secretary of state, is being forced by the course of events to seize the initiative in limiting the invasive characteristics of Red China. Manchuria was used as a sanctuary for Red Chinese forces in the Korean War and we lost that war because of a policy of permitting American troops to fight without a target when the only logical target was Manchuria.

In the Indochina war, a similar sanctuary is being established in the Chinese provinces of Yunnan and Kwangsi and on Hainan. Dulles has notified Red China that that will not long be tolerated and that the appearance of a Chinese "volunteer" army in Indochina will meet with massive retaliations. If the term "massive retaliation" means the use of non-conventional arms, perhaps the bombs, the prospect of expanding the limited Indochina War into a war to include Red China may not be distant. In the balance of power within the Soviet Universal State, Red China must establish a protective suzerainty over other Communist states in Asia.

On the other hand, if those who rule the Soviet Universal State from the Kremlin are not ready for war or truly seek peace, they will have the opportunity at Geneva to offer a program that could be acceptable, with dignity and honor, by the United States. One phase of that program must be limitations upon the imperialism in Asia of Red China.

Soviet Russia will assuredly raise the question of the recognition of Red China by the United Nations. This is the heart of the Red Chinese foreign policy. Up to now, the Government of the United States has resisted every pressure in that direction. Walter P. McConaughy, director of the Office of Chinese Affairs of the State Department, has summed up the American objection to such recognition in the following terms:

"Non-recognition means refusal to accept the Communist triumph as definitive. It means to many that the will to resist Communist expansion is alive; that communism is not the inevitable 'wave of the future' for Asia; that communism is not assured of acceptance and legitimation in every country where it may gain a beachhead; that our Asian friends who have the courage to stand up against communism will not have the ground cut out from under their feet if communism should attempt to subvert or take over their native land."

Further, he said:

"Even Chinese who are not particularly in sympathy with the Chinese National Government tell us that recognition of the Communist dictators in Peiping would be the greatest single nonmilitary triumph for the Communist cause and the hardest psychological blow against the will to resist the further spread of communism that could be devised."

In the war against Indochina, which not too remotely involves Burma and Thailand, one of the weapons available to the United States is non-recognition of Red China. As long as the Peking regime has no seat in the United Nations, it has no "face" in Asia, its prestige is not as great as those nations which do have seats in the United Nations. Red Chinese representatives cannot make long speeches on great problems in a world forum. They are unable to use the United Nations as a sounding board to attack the United States on racial issues and to proclaim to all the world the superiority of the Sinic peoples. Chou En-lai cannot compete with Vishinsky in violent diatribes against American capitalism, while advocating American capitalistic investments in China.

We shall undoubtedly get a sample of Chinese oratory at Geneva and I can tell you that it can be biting, even fierce to the point of hysterics. But the Geneva Conference is not the United Nations where every little issue can be magnified into an attack on the United States with ample quotations from Marx, Lenin and Mao Tze-tung.

If the United States continues to hold the position that Red China must cease her belligerency before conversations on recognition will even be listened to, some little may be accomplished at Geneva in establishing that the United States is horrified by Red Chinese barbarism and that good conduct must precede, not follow, recognition. Such an attitude may lead to war between the United States and Red China; its converse is no guarantee that there can be peace in the world. Indochina is now the principal theater of a continuing war.

Probe Of Teamsters Union In Detroit Called Off; Ferguson To Get Support

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Republican ranks are not happy over a deal put across between the Teamsters Union in Detroit and Postmaster General Summerfield to call off an investigation of labor racketeering in the Detroit area. In return for quashing the probe the Teamsters Union in Detroit is to support Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican, for re-election.

Though publication of the facts is certain to bring ringing denials, this deal was what was behind the speech made on the floor of the House of Representatives last week by Congressman Clare Hoffman of Michigan when he said that his subcommittee on l bor racketeering and welfare funds "had but barely entered upon its investigations when, apparently for political reasons, it was liquidated."

It was the same Summerfield-Teamsters deal which also was behind the statement made by Congressman Wint Smith of Kansas, after a brief hearing last November, that the investigation of Detroit labor racketeerin was being called off because of "pressure."

"Where does the pressure come from?" Smith was asked.

"From so high," Smith told newsmen, looking at the ceiling, "that I can't even discuss it."

Members of the committee staff, however, said it came direct from GOP House Leader Charlie Halleck of Indiana. Halleck in turn was acting as a result of the Summerfield-Ferguson deal with the Teamsters.

Here is the inside story of what happened.

Teamsters Object

Last June, Congressman Hoffman, chairman of the Government Operations Committee, held a preliminary probe of the Teamsters Union in and around Detroit, where it looked into alleged pressure on the juke box employers to make union pay-offs to Teamsters locals; also pressure on automatic car-wash employers to make pay-offs. This brought protests from Jim Hoffa, head of the Teamsters Union in Detroit.

Following this, on July 15, the Government Operations Committee voted to side-track its chairman, cantankerous Clare Hoffman. This vote was not inspired by the labor matter in Detroit so much as by the fact that Hoffman is difficult to get along with and was conducting the committee's affairs as if he were its sole member.

But Hoffman, blocked by his own committee, made an end run by getting the House Labor Committee, of which he is also a member, to probe the Detroit Teamsters. So a subcommittee, including Hoffman, Smith of Kansas, and Landrum of Georgia, continued the Detroit probe, using information gathered by the staff of the Government Operations Committee.

12 Teamsters Indicted

Meanwhile, however, Teamsters head Hoffa and Bert Brennon, his right-hand man, got in touch with Postmaster General Summerfield, former GOP national committeeman for Michigan and the man who had run the Republican party in that state.

After that the Detroit probe was called off. After that also, the Teamsters, usually strong for the Democrats, leaked word that they are supporting Republican Homer Ferguson for the Senate.

Meanwhile, a county grand jury sparked by the initial Hoffman investigation in Detroit has indicted 12 leading Teamsters, including William F. Buffalino, head of the Juke Box Local; Mike Nicoletti, head of Local 247 in Detroit, and David J. Keating, head of Local 614 in Pontiac. Dave Beck, national head of the Teamsters, has now suspended all of the 12 except for Buffalino, and has named Hoffa as trustee for the locals involved.

Meanwhile also, a subcommittee of the Government Operations Committee has been probing labor practices in Minneapolis and other areas — but has been careful since last November to avoid Detroit.

A Woman Molded History

When Joseph Patrick Tumulty, former secretary to Woodrow Wilson, died the other day I couldn't help remembering a rainy night many years ago when another man was dying and Joe stood out in the rain until four in the morning. He stood outside because his old chief was dying and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson would not let Joe in.

And at the funeral, uninvited, Joe followed with the Negro servants in the rear.

Behind that incident is not merely a story of human emotions but of a clash which, if avoided, might have saved the peace of the world.

For, had Mrs. Wilson and Joe Tumulty pulled together instead of apart, had Mrs. Wilson not shut her husband off from the Senate during the tragic debate over the League of Nations and the Versailles Treaty, they might have been ratified and the entire world might have been different.

The two people who loved Wilson most, his second wife and his secretary, have lived in Washington during the years since then, yet have never spoken to each other.

Tumulty, whose only love was Wilson, wanted him to wait until after the 1916 presidential election to marry Mrs. Edith Galt. When Wilson finally decided otherwise, Tumulty said: "I'm sorry you're going to do that, governor. I was very fond of Mrs. Wilson."

"I told Edith you'd say that," replied Wilson.

Tragic, Untold Story Of An Unselfish Public Servant

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — This is the tragic and untold story of a man who helped make American history in its most critical period, who sat next to a President of the United States at the White House for eight years and influenced some of the most significant policies of our government before and during World War I, and yet died last week in virtual obscurity, broken in mind and spirit.

Joseph Patrick Tumulty was secretary to President Woodrow Wilson and no man since his time has ever held a comparable position of influence. Tumulty had no corps of "administrative assistants" such as are supplied nowadays at the White House. He had no press secretary, for he handled all press relations himself. He was not a member of the cabinet but had more influence than all of them combined. His genius for discerning the trends of public opinion and his uncanny faculty of coming up with a memorandum of policy at opportune moments that fitted the domestic or international situation, as the case may be, would mean, if President Eisenhower had such a man today, the difference between a divided and a united party.

Could Be Belligerent

Always aware of the progressive and liberal trend of American thinking, Tumulty successfully influenced Woodrow Wilson to be articulate at all times against reactionary policies but never to antagonize individual conservatives in the Democratic party whose support was needed in Congress for the legislative program.

Most important of all, Tumulty knew when a policy, for example, of "peace with prosperity" could be espoused as in the campaign of 1916 and he could be outspokenly belligerent when, as in 1917 Berlin again ordered her submarines to violate American rights on the high seas. He was never lacking at any times in his advice to strike hard at those who wanted to appease imperialist Germany or to cater to the "hypehnated Americans"—those who allowed sympathy for the countries of their origin to becloud their vision of what a truly American policy toward Europe should be. Tumulty took a good deal of abuse from some of the professional Irish-American organizations of those days which was flung at him not withstanding his Irish ancestry and the assistance he had given on other occasions to the cause of Ireland's independence.

The opposition to the presence of a Catholic as private secretary at the elbow of a President of the United States began when Governor Wilson, as president-elect, was considering the continuance of Tumulty in the post which he had occupied at the State House in Trenton.

Riding alone with Mr. Wilson one morning early in 1913 on a day coach to Trenton from Princeton, this writer, than an Associated Press reporter assigned to cover the president-elect, had an off-the-record conversation which ran like this:

"Whom will you pick as private secretary?"

"I am being urged in many letters," Mr. Wilson replied, "not to appoint a Catholic, but I've made up my mind to ram that appointment down the throats of the bigots and pick Tumutly."

Small wonder that Mr. Wilson had at his side such a devoted, faithful, hard-working assistant who spent every waking hour in devoted work for his chif.

The anti-Catholic issue arose again after Mr. Wilson was re-elected in November 1916, and this time it looked as if the opposition which came from intimate friends in the political world would persuade Mr. Wilson to force the resignation of Tumulty. The Wilson mind was virtually closed. He had written a letter to Tumulty suggesting his resignation. Immediately on learning of the letter, this writer, at that time Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post, went to the White House and spent forty-five minutes alone with the President urging him to reconsider and reminding him of his 1913 stand against religious bigotry in America. The next day Mr. Wilson determined to ignore the cabal and welcomed Tumulty for another term as his private secretary. That was the kind of a "liberal" Woodrow Wilson was before his physical collapse deprived him of the keen judgment of human values he had so dramatically exhibited in public affairs.

Visits Refused

The distinguished service rendered by Tumulty to his country is well told by John Morton Blum, now an assistant professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in a well-documented biography entitled "Joe Tumulty and the Wilson Era," published in 1951 by the Houghton Mifflin Company of Boston. It tells of the inexplicable manner in which Mr. Wilson, sick and inaccessible to old friends, was persuaded, in April 1922, to write a letter to the New York Times repudiating an oral greeting which Tumulty had brought to a testimonial dinner in New York City for Governor James M. Cox of Ohio. Mr. Cox, though supporting the Wilson policies 100 per cent, was defeated for the presidency on the Democratic ticket in 1920 and was being talked of again for the nomination.

The message—unimportant in itself and constituting really no endorsement of anybody for the 1924 nomination—was due to a misunderstanding by Tumulty of an ambiguous, if not incoherent, expression by Mr. Wilson when he was ill. After the Wilson statement, Tumulty apologized publicly for the error but he never was permitted to see Mr. Wilson again in the two remaining years that the former President lived and was not even invited to ride in the funeral procession until Mr. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and son-in-law of Mr. Wilson interceded.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

If the missus starts attic-polishing this week just take your foot in hand and sprowl.

That's because Cornell nuclear mechanics say there's a fine layer of atomic dust on everything in the world. Next time you write your name on the piano you'd better rush your finger to the digitorium.

That last hydrogen bowser fused an arichipelago, bent the ocean and set the international date line back 35 minutes, eleven seconds and the corner drugstore.

The scientists admit this fissioned smoggle is harmless under ordinary conditions. But we advise the misses to use a Geiger counter for lumps under the carpet.

Life is getting more complicated than the backroom of a bicycle repair shop. Anybody shaking a dust rag out of the window is violating Section 2, Clause 5, of the haphazard security act.

Beating a rug over the backyard clothesline violates the rights of fishing minorities. You've got to have a government permit to go dustmining.

What Is A Secret?

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

One of these reporters has just finished a telephone conversation with an old acquaintance, an able official in the middle ranks of the government. The conversation was about as follows:

Reporter: How about lunch Monday?

Official: Sorry, can't make it.

Reporter: How about Thursday or Friday?

Official. (After embarrassed pause): Look, frankly, I think I'd better not have lunch with you at all just now.

Reporter (After another embarrassed pause): Oh, . . . is it one-six-two?

Official: That's right. One-six-two.

Reporter: Oh.

This cryptic exchange may seem of less than world-shaking significance. Then it may be worth reporting all the some, since it relates to a subject which is not without genuine national importance. This is the downright neurotic obsession with secrecy for its own sake in the American government.

The story goes back to last summer, when the Eisenhower administration embarked on a re-examination of the national situation. This new look went forward in the lurid light of the Soviet hydrogen bomb, tested in August. Finally, the conclusion was reached that the danger to the nation was now absolute, and it was therefore decided that the national security must have absolute priority over all other consideration.

Published Paper's Number

This decision was approved by the National Security Council, at a meeting early last October, and officially embodied in a policy paper known as NSC-162. It seemed to these reporters a positive duty to report this basic national decision, involving a bold facing-up to realities. There was nothing secret, after all, about the Soviet hydrogen bomb, or the danger to this country's survival of which it is a symbol. So the decision and its background were sympathetically described in this space. Immediately thereafter, all hell broke loose. Robert Cutler, able secretary of the National Security Council, was said to be tearing out large tufts of ill-spared hair in his rage, and other members of the council were almost equally angry. Highly-placed friends passed on stern warnings and admonitions. Less highly-placed officials, known to be acquainted with these reporters, became the objects of beady-eyed suspicion and harassment. Thus the perhaps excessive caution of the official quoted above is at least understandable.

The uproar, it appeared, was caused by the heinous sin of publishing the number of the paper. The number seemed so unimportant at the time that these reporters cannot even remember where they heard it. Even now, its terrible significance remains unexplained. One official, asked what information it would convey to a potential enemy, puzzled for a moment and replied that "a Russian spy who got hold of the NSC files would know which paper to look for first."

Even he had to admit, with a smile, that this danger seemed a trifle remote. In fact, the number of the paper can hardly have been the whole cause of the uproar. Many officials love secrets just because they are secrets — this is the adult version of the childish, "I gotta see-crut you don't know, so ha-ha." Moreover, since the National Security Council became the center of power in the executive branch of the government, reducing the cabinet to a shadow, anything to do with the NSC is supposed to be "see-crut." "What goes on in the NSC," one official has remarked testily, "is nobody's damn business."

Secrecy Leads To Disaster

If this is true, then the American goverment is nobody's damn business, since the NSC is the American government as far as the great life-and-death issues are concerned. No one denies, of course, that there are genuine government secrets, which should be closely held. Indeed, in the old days, before Chairman Lewis Strauss introduced his policy of censorship-by-indirection, it was comforting for a reporter to know that the Atomic Energy Commission would give him sensible guidance in the atomic field — these reporters have cheerfully suppressed a number of columns at the AEC's request.

But what is a genuine government secret? Should it really be a secret that the leaders of the government, after long study of all the facts, have concluded that the danger to national survival is so grave that national security must have an absolute priority? Are the broad, basic reasons for this decision genuine secrets?

There are those who say that they are — that the American people would "get hysterical" if they knew the truth, and that such grim knowledge should be confined to "responsible officials." Those who believe this need to be reminded that in our free society not even august members of the NSC are real masters of the government. The real masters are the American people, and therefore when the people are kept in ignorance disaster is sure.

Blood Typing, With RH Factor, Is Now More Complex

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many years ago, when I wrote about the Rh factor, the subject was fairly easy to explain as it was not too complicated. Since then, physicians have come up with a dozen or more variations so that blood typing, including the Rh factor, has become a complex problem.

Your blood cells may look like mine but your blood may contain chemical substances (antigens) that do not exist in mine. If this is true, our blood will not mix; a reaction is likely to occur in case a transfusion is given. This is another way of saying that our blood is not the same type.

There are several different antigens; consequently there are several different blood types. The Rh antigen is only one and it is found in 85 per cent (Rh positive) and is lacking in 15 per cent (Rh negative) in Caucasions. These antigens are present in 96 per cent of Negroes and 99.6 per cent of Orientals, which explains why disturbances of the Rh factor or uncommon in these races.

People who have the Rh antigen are not bothered in the same way as those who do not. An Rh negative individual is able to tolerate only one transfusion with Rh positive blood. Thereafter he becomes sensitized to Rh positive blood and a reaction will follow a repeat transfusion. The baby of an Rh negative woman and an Rh positive man will be Rh positive. Somewhere along the line the blood of the baby mixes with the blood of the mother so that she becomes sensitized to Rh positive blood.

When we go behind the scenes, we find she has become sensitized bcause reaction making antibodies were formed in her blood stream, which do not play a role until she becomes pregnant the second time. Now, the antibodies mix with the Rh positive blood of her infant and as a result the child suffers, usually at birth. The youngster may develop erythroblastosis fetalis, a disturbance in which the blood cells are destroyed and jaundice ensues. The life of the baby is saved by replacing his blood with transfused blood.

This is the basic story of the Rh factor, but the subject is more complicated. Our chemists, after isolating the antigen, discovered it to be a complex mixture of fats and proteins. The structure of the molecule contains three sets of genes, arranged in pairs, and labeled C, D. E, c, d, and e. Each person possesses three sets of gene pairs in various combinations (27 possibilities).

In the past the Rh antigen was thought to be a single substance. We now know that even Rh negatives have these genes but they lack the D antigen, which is the dominant factor. The Rh positive has at least one capital D, which may be paired with another D or with a small d. Rh negatives have only small d's. Since genes are hereditary, this research has practical value.

TOMORROW: Fifty years of progress.

ANOTHER STONE

J. C. R. writes: I was operated on two years ago for a kidney stone and six months later, X-ray showed that the stone had grown back again. Everyone is telling me to change doctors because if the operation had been done well, the stone would not have grown back. Please advise.

REPLY

Removal of one stone is not a guarantee that no more will develop. In your case, another stone reformed and if your physician made any mistake, it was in not taking another X-ray after surgery, to prove to doubting Thomases that he had done the job properly.

NOT EVEN SATURDAY

Mrs. T. writes: My husband has not taken a bath since August 7. Is this mental trouble?

REPLY

It depends upon the reason he gives for not bathing.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Emily Kimbrough was in Pittsburgh for a lecture one day when the hotel clerk told her a Mr. Murphy was in the lobby to see her. Identifying hi min her mind as an old and valued friend, Miss Kimbrough ordered, "Send him up." As he entered her room, she playfully jumped from behind a door, pointed both forefingers at him and ordered hoarsely, "Stick 'em up!" Mr. Murphy stuck 'em up. Miss Kimbrough thereupon made two disconcerting discoveries: (1) Mr. Murphy was a total stranger to her. (2) He turned out to be an agent of the FBI assigned to question her about an acquaintance who had given her name as a reference. "No more tricks like that for me," vows Miss Kimbrough. "I've decided I'm a big girl now."

Those ever-resourceful movie moguls, notes Army Archerd, have developed a brand new technique for Lassie's next starring vehicle. They're filming it in the tree-D process.

All Time Batting Average – 1.000

• Optimist At Ottawa Expects Upswing

The way the Canadian government handles its fiscal problems should be of great interest to Americans, inasmuch as Canada's economic climate is similar to that of the United States and responds much as this country does to internal and external influences.

So it is good to report that the Ottawa government seems to be doing very well with its finances.

Minister of Finance D. C. Abbott, presenting the annual budget to the Canadian parliament, included in it only a small tax reduction in sales and excise taxes. The total cut amounts to only $36,000,000 in a budget that calls for estimated expenditures of $4,460,000,000—a record peacetime outlay.

But the minister reminded the members that there had been an 11 per cent reduction in income and corporation taxes a year ago and that he looked forward to a 1955 surplus—it will be the ninth in a row if it materializes—of only $4,000,000.

But he was cautiously confident that there will be an economic upswing in the second half of the year that will at least balance the slight downswing experienced so far. He saw no need for the government to start priming the economy. He believes that "the forces of long-term expansion will soon reassert themselves."

Year after year his economic forecasts have been remarkably accurate. Which is all the more reason for finding encouragement in his prospectus for the year ahead.

Report On Glaciers

From Glacier National Park, Mont., the news is good. The retreat of glaciers in the park has been slowed by a change in the weather, according to M. E. Beatty, the park's chief naturalist.

As the only glaciers in the continental United States, every American should be glad that increased rain and snow, despite warmer weather, is a break for the glaciers.

A decade or two ago the park's 60 glaciers were not expected by experts to survive beyond the year 2000.

These Days

Red China's Role

John Foster Dulles, secretary of state, is being forced by the course of events to seize the initiative in limiting the invasive characteristics of Red China. Manchuria was used as a sanctuary for Red Chinese forces in the Korean War and we lost that war because of a policy of permitting American troops to fight without a target when the only logical target was Manchuria.

In the Indochina war, a similar sanctuary is being established in the Chinese provinces of Yunnan and Kwangsi and on Hainan. Dulles has notified Red China that that will not long be tolerated and that the appearance of a Chinese "volunteer" army in Indochina will meet with massive retaliations. If the term "massive retaliation" means the use of non-conventional arms, perhaps the bombs, the prospect of expanding the limited Indochina War into a war to include Red China may not be distant. In the balance of power within the Soviet Universal State, Red China must establish a protective suzerainty over other Communist states in Asia.

On the other hand, if those who rule the Soviet Universal State from the Kremlin are not ready for war or truly seek peace, they will have the opportunity at Geneva to offer a program that could be acceptable, with dignity and honor, by the United States. One phase of that program must be limitations upon the imperialism in Asia of Red China.

Soviet Russia will assuredly raise the question of the recognition of Red China by the United Nations. This is the heart of the Red Chinese foreign policy. Up to now, the Government of the United States has resisted every pressure in that direction. Walter P. McConaughy, director of the Office of Chinese Affairs of the State Department, has summed up the American objection to such recognition in the following terms:

"Non-recognition means refusal to accept the Communist triumph as definitive. It means to many that the will to resist Communist expansion is alive; that communism is not the inevitable 'wave of the future' for Asia; that communism is not assured of acceptance and legitimation in every country where it may gain a beachhead; that our Asian friends who have the courage to stand up against communism will not have the ground cut out from under their feet if communism should attempt to subvert or take over their native land."

Further, he said:

"Even Chinese who are not particularly in sympathy with the Chinese National Government tell us that recognition of the Communist dictators in Peiping would be the greatest single nonmilitary triumph for the Communist cause and the hardest psychological blow against the will to resist the further spread of communism that could be devised."

In the war against Indochina, which not too remotely involves Burma and Thailand, one of the weapons available to the United States is non-recognition of Red China. As long as the Peking regime has no seat in the United Nations, it has no "face" in Asia, its prestige is not as great as those nations which do have seats in the United Nations. Red Chinese representatives cannot make long speeches on great problems in a world forum. They are unable to use the United Nations as a sounding board to attack the United States on racial issues and to proclaim to all the world the superiority of the Sinic peoples. Chou En-lai cannot compete with Vishinsky in violent diatribes against American capitalism, while advocating American capitalistic investments in China.

We shall undoubtedly get a sample of Chinese oratory at Geneva and I can tell you that it can be biting, even fierce to the point of hysterics. But the Geneva Conference is not the United Nations where every little issue can be magnified into an attack on the United States with ample quotations from Marx, Lenin and Mao Tze-tung.

If the United States continues to hold the position that Red China must cease her belligerency before conversations on recognition will even be listened to, some little may be accomplished at Geneva in establishing that the United States is horrified by Red Chinese barbarism and that good conduct must precede, not follow, recognition. Such an attitude may lead to war between the United States and Red China; its converse is no guarantee that there can be peace in the world. Indochina is now the principal theater of a continuing war.

Probe Of Teamsters Union In Detroit Called Off; Ferguson To Get Support

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Republican ranks are not happy over a deal put across between the Teamsters Union in Detroit and Postmaster General Summerfield to call off an investigation of labor racketeering in the Detroit area. In return for quashing the probe the Teamsters Union in Detroit is to support Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican, for re-election.

Though publication of the facts is certain to bring ringing denials, this deal was what was behind the speech made on the floor of the House of Representatives last week by Congressman Clare Hoffman of Michigan when he said that his subcommittee on l bor racketeering and welfare funds "had but barely entered upon its investigations when, apparently for political reasons, it was liquidated."

It was the same Summerfield-Teamsters deal which also was behind the statement made by Congressman Wint Smith of Kansas, after a brief hearing last November, that the investigation of Detroit labor racketeerin was being called off because of "pressure."

"Where does the pressure come from?" Smith was asked.

"From so high," Smith told newsmen, looking at the ceiling, "that I can't even discuss it."

Members of the committee staff, however, said it came direct from GOP House Leader Charlie Halleck of Indiana. Halleck in turn was acting as a result of the Summerfield-Ferguson deal with the Teamsters.

Here is the inside story of what happened.

Teamsters Object

Last June, Congressman Hoffman, chairman of the Government Operations Committee, held a preliminary probe of the Teamsters Union in and around Detroit, where it looked into alleged pressure on the juke box employers to make union pay-offs to Teamsters locals; also pressure on automatic car-wash employers to make pay-offs. This brought protests from Jim Hoffa, head of the Teamsters Union in Detroit.

Following this, on July 15, the Government Operations Committee voted to side-track its chairman, cantankerous Clare Hoffman. This vote was not inspired by the labor matter in Detroit so much as by the fact that Hoffman is difficult to get along with and was conducting the committee's affairs as if he were its sole member.

But Hoffman, blocked by his own committee, made an end run by getting the House Labor Committee, of which he is also a member, to probe the Detroit Teamsters. So a subcommittee, including Hoffman, Smith of Kansas, and Landrum of Georgia, continued the Detroit probe, using information gathered by the staff of the Government Operations Committee.

12 Teamsters Indicted

Meanwhile, however, Teamsters head Hoffa and Bert Brennon, his right-hand man, got in touch with Postmaster General Summerfield, former GOP national committeeman for Michigan and the man who had run the Republican party in that state.

After that the Detroit probe was called off. After that also, the Teamsters, usually strong for the Democrats, leaked word that they are supporting Republican Homer Ferguson for the Senate.

Meanwhile, a county grand jury sparked by the initial Hoffman investigation in Detroit has indicted 12 leading Teamsters, including William F. Buffalino, head of the Juke Box Local; Mike Nicoletti, head of Local 247 in Detroit, and David J. Keating, head of Local 614 in Pontiac. Dave Beck, national head of the Teamsters, has now suspended all of the 12 except for Buffalino, and has named Hoffa as trustee for the locals involved.

Meanwhile also, a subcommittee of the Government Operations Committee has been probing labor practices in Minneapolis and other areas — but has been careful since last November to avoid Detroit.

A Woman Molded History

When Joseph Patrick Tumulty, former secretary to Woodrow Wilson, died the other day I couldn't help remembering a rainy night many years ago when another man was dying and Joe stood out in the rain until four in the morning. He stood outside because his old chief was dying and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson would not let Joe in.

And at the funeral, uninvited, Joe followed with the Negro servants in the rear.

Behind that incident is not merely a story of human emotions but of a clash which, if avoided, might have saved the peace of the world.

For, had Mrs. Wilson and Joe Tumulty pulled together instead of apart, had Mrs. Wilson not shut her husband off from the Senate during the tragic debate over the League of Nations and the Versailles Treaty, they might have been ratified and the entire world might have been different.

The two people who loved Wilson most, his second wife and his secretary, have lived in Washington during the years since then, yet have never spoken to each other.

Tumulty, whose only love was Wilson, wanted him to wait until after the 1916 presidential election to marry Mrs. Edith Galt. When Wilson finally decided otherwise, Tumulty said: "I'm sorry you're going to do that, governor. I was very fond of Mrs. Wilson."

"I told Edith you'd say that," replied Wilson.

Tragic, Untold Story Of An Unselfish Public Servant

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — This is the tragic and untold story of a man who helped make American history in its most critical period, who sat next to a President of the United States at the White House for eight years and influenced some of the most significant policies of our government before and during World War I, and yet died last week in virtual obscurity, broken in mind and spirit.

Joseph Patrick Tumulty was secretary to President Woodrow Wilson and no man since his time has ever held a comparable position of influence. Tumulty had no corps of "administrative assistants" such as are supplied nowadays at the White House. He had no press secretary, for he handled all press relations himself. He was not a member of the cabinet but had more influence than all of them combined. His genius for discerning the trends of public opinion and his uncanny faculty of coming up with a memorandum of policy at opportune moments that fitted the domestic or international situation, as the case may be, would mean, if President Eisenhower had such a man today, the difference between a divided and a united party.

Could Be Belligerent

Always aware of the progressive and liberal trend of American thinking, Tumulty successfully influenced Woodrow Wilson to be articulate at all times against reactionary policies but never to antagonize individual conservatives in the Democratic party whose support was needed in Congress for the legislative program.

Most important of all, Tumulty knew when a policy, for example, of "peace with prosperity" could be espoused as in the campaign of 1916 and he could be outspokenly belligerent when, as in 1917 Berlin again ordered her submarines to violate American rights on the high seas. He was never lacking at any times in his advice to strike hard at those who wanted to appease imperialist Germany or to cater to the "hypehnated Americans"—those who allowed sympathy for the countries of their origin to becloud their vision of what a truly American policy toward Europe should be. Tumulty took a good deal of abuse from some of the professional Irish-American organizations of those days which was flung at him not withstanding his Irish ancestry and the assistance he had given on other occasions to the cause of Ireland's independence.

The opposition to the presence of a Catholic as private secretary at the elbow of a President of the United States began when Governor Wilson, as president-elect, was considering the continuance of Tumulty in the post which he had occupied at the State House in Trenton.

Riding alone with Mr. Wilson one morning early in 1913 on a day coach to Trenton from Princeton, this writer, than an Associated Press reporter assigned to cover the president-elect, had an off-the-record conversation which ran like this:

"Whom will you pick as private secretary?"

"I am being urged in many letters," Mr. Wilson replied, "not to appoint a Catholic, but I've made up my mind to ram that appointment down the throats of the bigots and pick Tumutly."

Small wonder that Mr. Wilson had at his side such a devoted, faithful, hard-working assistant who spent every waking hour in devoted work for his chif.

The anti-Catholic issue arose again after Mr. Wilson was re-elected in November 1916, and this time it looked as if the opposition which came from intimate friends in the political world would persuade Mr. Wilson to force the resignation of Tumulty. The Wilson mind was virtually closed. He had written a letter to Tumulty suggesting his resignation. Immediately on learning of the letter, this writer, at that time Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post, went to the White House and spent forty-five minutes alone with the President urging him to reconsider and reminding him of his 1913 stand against religious bigotry in America. The next day Mr. Wilson determined to ignore the cabal and welcomed Tumulty for another term as his private secretary. That was the kind of a "liberal" Woodrow Wilson was before his physical collapse deprived him of the keen judgment of human values he had so dramatically exhibited in public affairs.

Visits Refused

The distinguished service rendered by Tumulty to his country is well told by John Morton Blum, now an assistant professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in a well-documented biography entitled "Joe Tumulty and the Wilson Era," published in 1951 by the Houghton Mifflin Company of Boston. It tells of the inexplicable manner in which Mr. Wilson, sick and inaccessible to old friends, was persuaded, in April 1922, to write a letter to the New York Times repudiating an oral greeting which Tumulty had brought to a testimonial dinner in New York City for Governor James M. Cox of Ohio. Mr. Cox, though supporting the Wilson policies 100 per cent, was defeated for the presidency on the Democratic ticket in 1920 and was being talked of again for the nomination.

The message—unimportant in itself and constituting really no endorsement of anybody for the 1924 nomination—was due to a misunderstanding by Tumulty of an ambiguous, if not incoherent, expression by Mr. Wilson when he was ill. After the Wilson statement, Tumulty apologized publicly for the error but he never was permitted to see Mr. Wilson again in the two remaining years that the former President lived and was not even invited to ride in the funeral procession until Mr. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and son-in-law of Mr. Wilson interceded.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

If the missus starts attic-polishing this week just take your foot in hand and sprowl.

That's because Cornell nuclear mechanics say there's a fine layer of atomic dust on everything in the world. Next time you write your name on the piano you'd better rush your finger to the digitorium.

That last hydrogen bowser fused an arichipelago, bent the ocean and set the international date line back 35 minutes, eleven seconds and the corner drugstore.

The scientists admit this fissioned smoggle is harmless under ordinary conditions. But we advise the misses to use a Geiger counter for lumps under the carpet.

Life is getting more complicated than the backroom of a bicycle repair shop. Anybody shaking a dust r[illegible] out of the window is violating Section 2, Clause 5, of the haphazard security act.

Beating a rug over the backyard clothesline violates the rights of fishing minorities. You've got to have a government permit to go dustmining.

What Is A Secret?

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

One of these reporters has just finished a telephone conversation with an old acquaintance, an able official in the middle ranks of the government. The conversation was about as follows:

Reporter: How about lunch Monday?

Official: Sorry, can't make it.

Reporter: How about Thursday or Friday?

Official. (After embarrassed pause): Look, frankly, I think I'd better not have lunch with you at all just now.

Reporter (After another embarrassed pause): Oh, . . . is it one-six-two?

Official: That's right. One-six-two.

Reporter: Oh.

This cryptic exchange may seem of less than world-shaking significance. Then it may be worth reporting all the some, since it relates to a subject which is not without genuine national importance. This is the downright neurotic obsession with secrecy for its own sake in the American government.

The story goes back to last summer, when the Eisenhower administration embarked on a re-examination of the national situation. This new look went forward in the lurid light of the Soviet hydrogen bomb, tested in August. Finally, the conclusion was reached that the danger to the nation was now absolute, and it was therefore decided that the national security must have absolute priority over all other consideration.

Published Paper's Number

This decision was approved by the National Security Council, at a meeting early last October, and officially embodied in a policy paper known as NSC-162. It seemed to these reporters a positive duty to report this basic national decision, involving a bold facing-up to realities. There was nothing secret, after all, about the Soviet hydrogen bomb, or the danger to this country's survival of which it is a symbol. So the decision and its background were sympathetically described in this space. Immediately thereafter, all hell broke loose. Robert Cutler, able secretary of the National Security Council, was said to be tearing out large tufts of ill-spared hair in his rage, and other members of the council were almost equally angry. Highly-placed friends passed on stern warnings and admonitions. Less highly-placed officials, known to be acquainted with these reporters, became the objects of beady-eyed suspicion and harassment. Thus the perhaps excessive caution of the official quoted above is at least understandable.

The uproar, it appeared, was caused by the heinous sin of publishing the number of the paper. The number seemed so unimportant at the time that these reporters cannot even remember where they heard it. Even now, its terrible significance remains unexplained. One official, asked what information it would convey to a potential enemy, puzzled for a moment and replied that "a Russian spy who got hold of the NSC files would know which paper to look for first."

Even he had to admit, with a smile, that this danger seemed a trifle remote. In fact, the number of the paper can hardly have been the whole cause of the uproar. Many officials love secrets just because they are secrets — this is the adult version of the childish, "I gotta see-crut you don't know, so ha-ha." Moreover, since the National Security Council became the center of power in the executive branch of the government, reducing the cabinet to a shadow, anything to do with the NSC is supposed to be "see-crut." "What goes on in the NSC," one official has remarked testily, "is nobody's damn business."

Secrecy Leads To Disaster

If this is true, then the American goverment is nobody's damn business, since the NSC is the American government as far as the great life-and-death issues are concerned. No one denies, of course, that there are genuine government secrets, which should be closely held. Indeed, in the old days, before Chairman Lewis Strauss introduced his policy of censorship-by-indirection, it was comforting for a reporter to know that the Atomic Energy Commission would give him sensible guidance in the atomic field — these reporters have cheerfully suppressed a number of columns at the AEC's request.

But what is a genuine government secret? Should it really be a secret that the leaders of the government, after long study of all the facts, have concluded that the danger to national survival is so grave that national security must have an absolute priority? Are the broad, basic reasons for this decision genuine secrets?

There are those who say that they are — that the American people would "get hysterical" if they knew the truth, and that such grim knowledge should be confined to "responsible officials." Those who believe this need to be reminded that in our free society not even august members of the NSC are real masters of the government. The real masters are the American people, and therefore when the people are kept in ignorance disaster is sure.

Blood Typing, With RH Factor, Is Now More Complex

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many years ago, when I wrote about the Rh factor, the subject was fairly easy to explain as it was not too complicated. Since then, physicians have come up with a dozen or more variations so that blood typing, including the Rh factor, has become a complex problem.

Your blood cells may look like mine but your blood may contain chemical substances (antigens) that do not exist in mine. If this is true, our blood will not mix; a reaction is likely to occur in case a transfusion is given. This is another way of saying that our blood is not the same type.

There are several different antigens; consequently there are several different blood types. The Rh antigen is only one and it is found in 85 per cent (Rh positive) and is lacking in 15 per cent (Rh negative) in Caucasions. These antigens are present in 96 per cent of Negroes and 99.6 per cent of Orientails, which explains why disturbances of the Rh factor or uncommon in these races.

People who have the Rh antigen are not bothered in the same way as those who do not. An Rh negative individual is able to tolerate only one transfusion with Rh positive blood. Thereafter he becomes sensitized to Rh positive blood and a reaction will follow a repeat transfusion. The baby of an Rh negative woman and an Rh positive man will be Rh positive. Somewhere along the line the blood of the baby mixes with the blood of the mother so that she becomes sensitized to Rh positive blood.

When we go behind the scenes, we find she has become sensitized bcause reaction making antibodies were formed in her blood stream, which do not play a role until she becomes pregnant the second time. Now, the antibodies mix with the Rh positive blood of her infant and as a result the child suffers, usually at birth. The youngster may develop erythroblastosis fetalis, a disturbance in which the blood cells are destroyed and jaundice ensues. The life of the baby is saved by replacing his blood with transfused blood.

This is the basic story of the Rh factor, but the subject is more complicated. Our chemists, after isolating the antigen, discovered it to be a complex mixture of fats and proteins. The structure of the molecule contains three sets of genes, arranged in pairs, and labeled C, D. E, c, d, and e. Each person possesses three sets of gene pairs in various combinations (27 possibilities).

In the past the Rh antigen was thought to be a single substance. We now know that even Rh negatives have these genes but they lack the D antigen, which is the dominant factor. The Rh positive has at least one capital D, which may be paired with another D or with a small d. Rh negatives have only small d's. Since genes are hereditary, this research has practical value.

TOMORROW: Fifty years of progress.

ANOTHER STONE

J. C. R. writes: I was operated on two years ago for a kidney stone and six months later, X-ray showed that the stone had grown back again. Everyone is telling me to change doctors because if the operation had been done well, the stone would not have grown back. Please advise.

REPLY

Removal of one stone is not a guarantee that no more will develop. In your case, another stone reformed and if your physician made any mistake, it was in not taking another X-ray after surgery, to prove to doubting Thomases that he had done the job properly.

NOT EVEN SATURDAY

Mrs. T. writes: My husband has not taken a bath since August 7. Is this mental trouble?

REPLY

It depends upon the reason he gives for not bathing.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Emily Kimbrough was in Pittsburgh for a lecture one day when the hotel clerk told her a Mr. Murphy was in the lobby to see her. Identifying hi min her mind as an old and valued friend, Miss Kimbrough ordered, "Send him up." As he entered her room, she playfully jumped from behind a door, pointed both forefingers at him and ordered hoarsely, "Stick 'em up!" Mr. Murphy stuck 'em up. Miss Kimbrough thereupon made two disconcerting discoveries: (1) Mr. Murphy was a total stranger to her. (2) He turned out to be an agent of the FBI assigned to question her about an acquaintance who had given her name as a reference. "No more tricks like that for me," vows Miss Kimbrough. "I've decided I'm a big girl now."

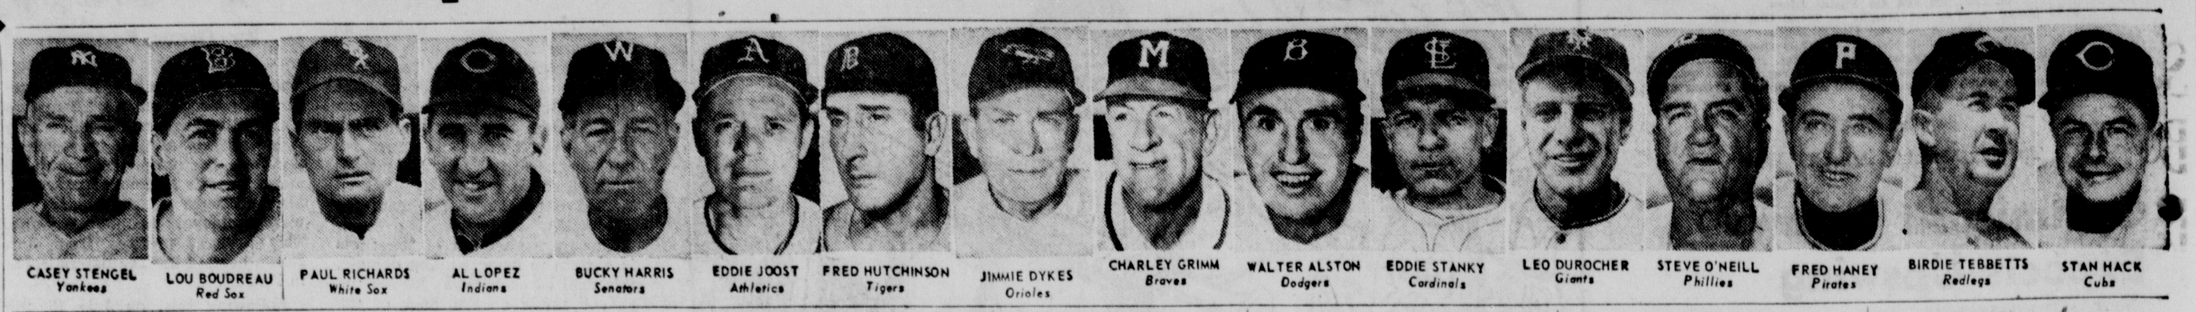
215,000 Fans Expected To Attend Major League Openers



Ike Will Toss Out First Ball In Washington

Yankees At Capital, Dodgers Face Giants, Indians At Chicago

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP) — The Enos Slaughter story still had baseball fans buzzing as the major leagues prepared to open the season tomorrow with a full eight-game schedule expected to draw about 215,000 fans.

Long ago the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees were firmly established as pennant favorites but the trade of Slaughter to the Yanks yesterday added new spice to the conversation.

The veteran St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, who will be 38 in two weeks, probably won't be in the starting lineup when the Yanks open at Washington's Griffith Stadium in their drive toward a sixth straight pennant. But Manager Casey Stengel indicated today he might give the "country boy" plenty of action in right field as a regular or a two-platoon man with Hank Bauer.

The Yanks' sorry spring training record (14-19, worst in the American League) indicates they do need help although the experts pick them to repeat and the bettors make them an even money choice.

Dodgers Face Giants

Brooklyn, regarded a shoo-in by many and 7-10 in the pre-season odds, starts its drive for a third straight National League championship at New York's Polo Grounds where new Manager Walter Alston will throw his "World Series" lineup against the Giants, revived by the return of Willie Mays.

Tomorrow's schedule:

American League

New York at Washington
Baltimore at Detroit
Cleveland at Chicago
Boston at Philadelphia

National League

Brooklyn at New York
Milwaukee at Cincinnati
Philadelphia at Pittsburgh
Chicago at St. Louis

With President Eisenhower primed to throw out the first ball at Washington and the weatherman forecasting generally fair weather for the big day, everything is ready for the start of another 24-week grind.

About 35 per cent of the opening day lineups will be changed from a year ago, due to trades of veterans or the advance of rookies from the minor leagues. Bobby Thomson, perhaps the most important player traded in the off season, won't be in the Milwaukee lineup because his broken ankle will keep him sidelined for many more weeks.

Newcomers Will Be Watched

Among the newcomers who will be watched carefully are Henry Aaron, Thomson's left field replacement at Milwaukee; Vic Power and Spook Jacobs of the Philadelphia A's, Frank Bolling, Al Kaline and Bill Tuttle of Detroit; Rudy Regalado of Cleveland; Bill Skowron of the Yanks; Alex Grammas, Tom Alston and Wally Moon of St. Louis, and Bob Talbot, Ernie Banks and Gene Baker of the Chicago Cubs.

Stengel is counting on Whitey Ford, who was being blasted a week ago for being poorly conditioned, as his starter against Washington. Old Case won't announce a definite starting lineup until tomorrow, waiting for Bucky Harris to name a definite pitcher. Even if he did, he probably would change the batting order five minutes before the game anyhow. Harris may go with lefthanded Chuck Stobbs although he refused to go beyond naming Stobbs or Bob Porterfield. A crowd of 30,000, plus Ike, is expected.

Wynn Opposes Pierce

Cleveland and Chicago, generally expected to give the Yanks the most trouble, play at Chicago before 30,000 with Early Wynn slated to work for the Indians against lefty Billy Pierce of the White Sox.

Detroit probably will have the day's largest crowd, 40,000, for the Tigers' opener against the Baltimore Orioles, who have replaced the St. Louis Browns as a "western" club in the American League. Steve Gromak, who flourished with Detroit after he was traded by Cleveland last year, gets the big assignment while Jimmy Dykes of the Orioles is undecided between Duane Pillette and Don Larsen, a pair of righthanders.

Robin Roberts, rocked in his spring starts, will try to get down to business for the Phillies at Pittsburgh, where Bob Friend will be his opposition before 20,000 or less.

Change Game Site

PARSONS, W. Va., April 12 — The Parsons High-Kingwood High baseball game scheduled here Wednesday has been transferred to Kingwood because underground cables are being laid at the local athletic field for the new lighting system. Kingwood will play at Parsons next month.

Parsons lost its opening game last week to Philippi, 5 to 4. The Parsons at Belington game was postponed on account of rain.

At the end of the bitter battle, the fans booed as Harry Balogh announced Referee Mark Conn and Judge Bert Grant both voted for the South American -4-1, they cheered the ballot of Judge Arthur Sussking, 6-4 for Turner. The AP card had Lausse on top 6-4.

Wednesday Games

Beall at Mt. Savage
Bruce at Flintstone
Valley at Hyndman

Lefty Wayne Murray tossed a two-hitter and struck out ten in pitching Fort Hill High School's Sentinels to a 5-0 triumph over Hyndman High School, 1953 co-champions, as the Bi-State Interscholastic Conference baseball campaign got under way yesterday at Fort Hill Field.

The Fort Hill-Hyndman tilt was the best of the four opening games. The other winners were Beall, Allegany and LaSalle.

Murray was accorded good support and Fort Hill's infield trio of "Pooch" Lewis, Bruce Lynn and Galen McGregor executed two snappy double plays.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's outfit solved the offering of Don May for 10 hits, including a two-bagger by Lewis and a triple by Dorcil Kline. McGregor and Kline battled in two runs each for the victors. All of Fort Hill's players hit safely.

Robosson and May collected Hyndman's hits, both singles.

Beall Belts Aggies

Ronnie Rice yielded only four hits and whiffed eleven stickers as Beall High's co-champions launched their campaign with a 14-3 decision over Flintstone High School's Aggies at Beall High Field.

Rice also sparked the Mountaineers' nine-hit offensive with two safeties to his credit. D. Morris accounted for two of the Aggies' four blows. The only extra base hit of the game was a triple by Earl Clark, Beall left fielder.

Allegany Wins, 12-6

Allegany High's Campers, making their first start under Coach Roy Lester, trounced Mt. Savage High School at Campobello to the tune of 12-6.

The locals put the game on ice early by scoring seven runs in the second inning.

Mt. Savage outhit AHS, 10-9, but committed ten fielding miscues. Nine of the 19 hits credited to the teams were two-baggers, Mt. Savage getting five while the Campers garnered four.

Harry Iser sparked the winners at the plate with three hits while Bob Kirtley and Vernon Lowery had two blows each. Harry Hixenbaugh and Rodney Breedlove batted in three runs each. Ronnie Carter with three hits and Mike Winebrenner with two led the Mt. Savage ash wielders.

Bobby Dawson went all the way for Allegany. He fanned 11, failed to issue any walks and hit four batsmen. Bobby Blank, Mt. Savage starter, was derricked in the second frame during the 7-run outburst, and was charged with the loss. Kenny Brant finished on the rubber for the visitors.

LaSalle Edges Bruce

LaSalle High's Explorers eked out a 9-7 decision over Bruce High School at Westernport when Harold Hudson's infield single and a wild throw enabled Rickey Harris and Joe Conroy to score with the runs that broke a 7-7 deadlock in the 7th and final stanza.

Conroy, who started on the peak for the Explorers and finished in a relief role got credit for the win. Hugh Nolan, Ronnie Connolly and Frank Ritter also took turns on the mound for the winning team.

LaSalle was credited with 10 hits, five of which were credited to Conroy and Hudson. Dave Marple went the route for Coach Augie Eichhorn's Bulldogs. Marvin Clem pounded a triple and double for two of Bruce's six hits.

LaSalle was making its first start under Coach George Geatz, former all-around athlete at the North Centre Street school.

Jackson Rated In Sixth Place Among Heavies

Charles Is Listed Logical Contender

WASHINGTON, April 12 (INS) — Sensational newcomer Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson made the grade today when the National Boxing Association listed him sixth from the top as a challenger for Rocky Marciano's heavyweight crown.

The NBA leapfrogged Jackson into the ten on the basis of his solid victories over Dan Bucceroni, Rex Layne and Clarence Henry.

Jackson, a new television favorite, was listed No. 1 among those cited for honorable mention in the class. Only Marciano, Ezzard Charles, Nino Valdez, Don Cockell and Roland La Starza outranked him in the NBA quarterly rating.

Charles, who is matched to meet Marciano in June, was listed as logical contender for the title.

In another change, NBA moved Joey Giardello up to become logical challenger along with Rocky Castellani for the middleweight crown held by Carl (Bobo) Olsen.

Jimmy Carter, who lost his lightweight title to Paddy Demarco, was rated the top challenger but the NBA moved Cisco Andrade into contention for the first time. The association said that Andrade, who recently whipped Percy Bassett, "looms as a real bid for the lightweight championship."

Cousy, Johnston, Mikan And Schayes Are NBA Repeaters

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Bounding Bob Cousy, Boston's fancy playmaker, tops four repeaters on the National Basketball Association's All-Star squad with New York's Harry Gallatin the lone newcomer. Cousy was the only unanimous selection.

League scoring ace Neil Johnston of Philadelphia, Minneapolis, veteran George Mikan and Adolph Schayes, spark of the Syracuse Nationals, round out the team announced today by league President Maurice Podoloff. First and second team selections, made by sportswriters and broadcasters in NBA cities, failed to include a single rookie.

Ed MacCauley, the other half of Boston's one-two scoring punch, leads the second team balloting after three straight years on the first unit. Jim Pollard of Minneapolis, Carl Braun of New York, Bobby Wanzer of Rochester and Paul Seymour of Syracuse complete the top ten

Ray Felix, the lean 6-11 shotmaker with the Baltimore Bullets, easily won the nomination as rookie of the year in the balloting.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, April 12—(INS)—They will be off and running in the major leagues tomorrow and to hear them tell it, all clubs are loaded with potential 20-game winners.

Well, the pitchers all may have that potential but very few of them actually will make the grade.

Know how many 20-game winners there were in the majors last year? Only eight, four in each league.

Warren Spahn and Robin Roberts had 23 apiece and Harvey Haddix and Carl Erskine had 20 each in the National.

In the American, Bob Porterfield ran up 22, Mel Parnell and Bob Lemon had 21 each and Virgil Trucks an even 20.

Any pitcher who can win even 20 these days can assure himself of plenty of cabbage.

We were talking about this with a former major leaguer the other day and he chuckled and said: "Never mind those 20-game winners. How many do you think will even win 15 and how many more won't even win 10? Look it up and you'll be surprised."

That sent us delving into the record books and, brother, we really did get a shock.

Would you believe that besides the 20-game men there were only three other pitchers who won as many as 15 games last year?

It's a fact. Curt Simmons rang up 16 and Lew Burdette and Russ Meyer each won 15.

And would you believe there were exactly 50 pitchers in the National League who didn't win even 10 games?

It's a fact and we are not including those fellows who got into only a few games.

The record was a little better in the American League where six fellows won more than 15 besides the aforementioned select 20-game group.

These were Ed Lopat (16), Early Wynn (17), and Bill Pierce, Ed Ford, Mickey McDermott and Mike Garcia 18 apiece.

But there were almost 60 who didn't win even 10 games, not counting those who were in only a few games.

All this would indicate that the majors must have been loaded with .300 hitters. But the fact is there were only 10 of them in the American and 16 in the National. And, need we remind you that there were no Babe Ruths, Ty Cobbs or Rajah Hornsbys among them?

Why the dearth of big winners?

The answer seems to be the universal tendency to yank a pitcher after the other team gets two or three hits back to back.

Years ago a pitcher was allowed to stick around to pitch himself out of a hole. Nowadays a couple of hits is the signal for furious activity in the bullpen.

These days, too, all clubs have a pitcher who is supposed to work the middle innings of a game if the slightest thing goes wrong with the starter and still other bull pen artists who are called on to finish games.

It's the new look in baseball but we, for one, don't like it.

Iowa State Seeks Millikan As Coach

AMES, Iowa, April 12 (AP)—H.A. (Bud) Millikan, University of Maryland coach, tonight emerged the leading prospect as Iowa State's next basketball coach.

Millikan, former Newton, Iowa, high school coach, was the only survivor of three candidates interviewed here for the job last week. The others were Bob Vanatta of Army who accepted the Bradley University coaching position today, and Doyle Parrack of Oklahoma City University who voluntarily withdrew.

SYDNEY, April 12 (AP)—Marshall Clayton, 144, New Orleans, stopped Carl Coates, 137½, Baltimore, in the last round of a 12-rounder at Sydney Stadium tonight. Coates took a severe battering in the eleventh round and 40 seconds after the final round started the referee halted the bout.

Ted Williams Shows Progress

Works Out At Boston, May Play Next Month

BOSTON, April 12 (AP)—Ted Williams, smiling and sun-tanned, had more X-rays taken of his broken collarbone today and then took a Fenway Park workout with the doctor's estimate he may play ball by the latter part of May.

Advised that his injury was healing ahead of schedule, the big Red Sox slugger donned his baseball pants, uniform stockings, spiked shoes and a wind-breaker for some ball tossing and a pepper game.

"We are delighted with his progress," said Dr. Russell Sullivan who operated on Ted's collarbone after he broke it in a March 1 fall in Florida training. "I plan to remove the pin from his bone between May 3 and May 5.

"After the pin is removed he can begin practice in earnest, taking his full swing with a bat."

Williams disclosed he has been staying in shape by running two and a half miles in Florida in recent days. He flew north yesterday for the X-rays.

After the pepper game—in which he did all the batting and Johnny Pohlmeyer, Fenway employe, the fielding, Ted said:

"I really feel loose. I'm ready to hit now if this bone wasn't broken."

Asked if this was his last season in the majors, as his memoirs in a national magazine stated, Williams replied: "Yeah, that's t. This is my last year."

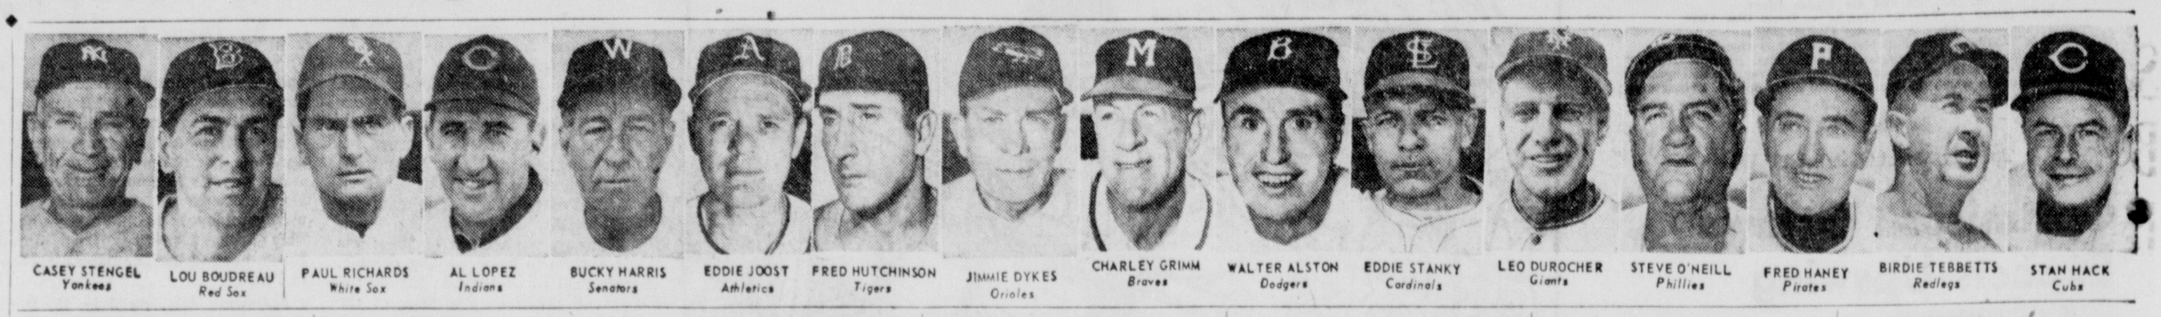
215,000 Fans Expected To Attend Major League Openers



Ike Will Toss Out First Ball In Washington

Yankees At Capital, Dodgers Face Giants, Indians At Chicago

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP) — The Enos Slaughter story still had baseball fans buzzing as the major leagues prepared to open the season tomorrow with a full eight-game schedule expected to draw about 215,000 fans.

Long ago the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees were firmly established as pennant favorites but the trade of Slaughter to the Yanks yesterday added new spice to the conversation.

The veteran St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, who will be 38 in two weeks, probably won't be in the starting lineup when the Yanks open at Washington's Griffith Stadium in their drive toward a sixth straight pennant. But Manager Casey Stengel indicated today he might give the "country boy" plenty of action in right field as a regular or a two-platoon man with Hank Bauer.

The Yanks' sorry spring training record (14-19, worst in the American League) indicates they do need help although the experts pick them to repeat and the bettors make them an even money choice.

Dodgers Face Giants

Brooklyn, regarded a shoo-in by many and 7-10 in the pre-season odds, starts its drive for a third straight National League championship at New York's Polo Grounds where new Manager Walter Alston will throw his "World Series" lineup against the Giants, revived by the return of Willie Mays.

Tomorrow's schedule:

American League

New York at Washington
Baltimore at Detroit
Cleveland at Chicago
Boston at Philadelphia

National League

Brooklyn at New York
Milwaukee at Cincinnati
Philadelphia at Pittsburgh
Chicago at St. Louis

With President Eisenhower primed to throw out the first ball at Washington and the weatherman forecasting generally fair weather for the big day, everything is ready for the start of another 24-week grind.

About 35 per cent of the opening day lineups will be changed from a year ago, due to trades of veterans or the advance of rookies from the minor leagues. Bobby Thomson, perhaps the most important player traded in the off season, won't be in the Milwaukee lineup because his broken ankle will keep him sidelined for many more weeks.

Newcomers Will Be Watched

Among the newcomers who will be watched carefully are Henry Aaron, Thomson's left field replacement at Milwaukee; Vic Power and Spook Jacobs of the Philadelphia A's, Frank Bolling, Al Kaline and Bill Tuttle of Detroit; Rudy Regalado of Cleveland; Bill Skowron of the Yanks; Alex Grammas, Tom Alston and Wally Moon of St. Louis, and Bob Talbot, Ernie Banks and Gene Baker of the Chicago Cubs.

Stengel is counting on Whitey Ford, who was being blasted a week ago for being poorly conditioned, as his starter against Washington. Old Case won't announce a definite starting lineup until tomorrow, waiting for Bucky Harris to name a definite pitcher. Even if he did, he probably would change the batting order five minutes before the game anyhow. Harris may go with lefthanded Chuck Stobbs although he refused to go beyond naming Stobbs or Bob Porterfield. A crowd of 30,000, plus Ike, is expected.

Wynn Opposes Pierce

Cleveland and Chicago, generally expected to give the Yanks the most trouble, play at Chicago before 30,000 with Early Wynn slated to work for the Indians against lefty Billy Pierce of the White Sox.

Detroit probably will have the day's largest crowd, 40,000, for the Tigers' opener against the Baltimore Orioles, who have replaced the St. Louis Browns as a "western" club in the American League. Steve Gromak, who flourished with Detroit after he was traded by Cleveland last year, gets the big assignment while Jimmy Dykes of the Orioles is undecided between Duane Pillette and Don Larsen, a pair of righthanders.

Robin Roberts, rocked in his spring starts, will try to get down to business for the Phillies at Pittsburgh, where Bob Friend will be his opposition before 20,000 or less.

Change Game Site

PARSONS, W. Va., April 12 — The Parsons High-Kingwood High baseball game scheduled here Wednesday has been transferred to Kingwood because underground cables are being laid at the local athletic field for the new lighting system. Kingwood will play at Parsons next month.

Parsons lost its opening game last week to Philippi, 5 to 4. The Parsons at Belington game was postponed on account of rain.

At the end of the bitter battle, the fans booed as Harry Balogh announced Referee Mark Conn and Judge Bert Grant both voted for the South American 4-1, they cheered the ballot of Judge Arthur Sussking, 6-4 for Turner. The AP card had Lausse on top 6-4.

Wednesday Games

Beall at Mt. Savage
Bruce at Flintstone
Valley at Hyndman

Lefty Wayne Murray tossed a two-hitter and struck out ten in pitching Fort Hill High School's Sentinels to a 5-0 triumph over Hyndman High School, 1953 co-champions, as the Bi-State Interscholastic Conference baseball campaign got under way yesterday at Fort Hill Field.

The Fort Hill-Hyndman tilt was the best of the four opening games. The other winners were Beall, Allegany and LaSalle.

Murray was accorded good support and Fort Hill's infield trio of "Pooch" Lewis, Bruce Lynn and Galen McGregor executed two snappy double plays.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's outfit solved the offering of Don May for 10 hits, including a two-bagger by Lewis and a triple by Dorcil Kline. McGregor and Kline battled in two runs each for the victors. All of Fort Hill's players hit safely.

Robosson and May collected Hyndman's hits, both singles.

Beall Belts Aggies

Ronnie Rice yielded only four hits and whiffed eleven stickers as Beall High's co-champions launched their campaign with a 14-3 decision over Flintstone High School's Aggies at Beall High Field.

Rice also sparked the Mountaineers' nine-hit offensive with two safeties to his credit. D. Morris accounted for two of the Aggies' four blows. The only extra base hit of the game was a triple by Earl Clark, Beall left fielder.

Allegany Wins, 12-6

Allegany High's Campers, making their first start under Coach Roy Lester, trounced Mt. Savage High School at Campobello to the tune of 12-6.

The locals put the game on ice early by scoring seven runs in the second inning.

Mt. Savage outhit AHS, 10-9, but committed ten fielding miscues. Nine of the 19 hits credited to the teams were two-baggers, Mt. Savage getting five while the Campers garnered four.

Harry Iser sparked the winners at the plate with three hits while Bob Kirtley and Vernon Lowery had two blows each. Harry Hixenbaugh and Rodney Breedlove batted in three runs each. Ronnie Carter with three hits and Mike Winebrenner with two led the Mt. Savage ash wielders.

Bobby Dawson went all the way for Allegany. He fanned 11, failed to issue any walks and hit four batsmen. Bobby Blank, Mt. Savage starter, was derricked in the second frame during the 7-run outburst, and was charged with the loss. Kenny Brant finished on the rubber for the visitors.

LaSalle Edges Bruce

LaSalle High's Explorers eked out a 9-7 decision over Bruce High School at Westernport when Harold Hudson's infield single and a wild throw enabled Rickey Harris and Joe Conroy to score with the runs that broke a 7-7 deadlock in the 7th and final stanza.

Conroy, who started on the peak for the Explorers and finished in a relief role got credit for the win. Hugh Nolan, Ronnie Connolly and Frank Ritter also took turns on the mound for the winning team.

LaSalle was credited with 10 hits, five of which were credited to Conroy and Hudson. Dave Marple went the route for Coach Augie Eichhorn's Bulldogs. Marvin Clem pounded a triple and double for two of Bruce's six hits.

LaSalle was making its first start under Coach George Geatz, former all-around athlete at the North Centre Street school.

Jackson Rated In Sixth Place Among Heavies

Charles Is Listed Logical Contender

WASHINGTON, April 12 (INS) — Sensational newcomer Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson made the grade today when the National Boxing Association listed him sixth from the top as a challenger for Rocky Marciano's heavyweight crown.

The NBA leapfrogged Jackson into the ten on the basis of his solid victories over Dan Bucceroni, Rex Layne and Clarence Henry.

Jackson, a new television favorite, was listed No. 1 among those cited for honorable mention in the class. Only Marciano, Ezzard Charles, Nino Valdez, Don Cockell and Roland La Starza outranked him in the NBA quarterly rating.

Charles, who is matched to meet Marciano in June, was listed as logical contender for the title.

In another change, NBA moved Joey Giardello up to become logical challenger along with Rocky Castellani for the middleweight crown held by Carl (Bobo) Olsen.

Jimmy Carter, who lost his lightweight title to Paddy Demarco, was rated the top challenger but the NBA moved Cisco Andrade into contention for the first time. The association said that Andrade, who recently whipped Percy Bassett, "looms as a real bid for the lightweight championship."

Cousy, Johnston, Mikan And Schayes Are NBA Repeaters

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Bounding Bob Cousy, Boston's fancy playmaker, tops four repeaters on the National Basketball Association's All-Star squad with New York's Harry Gallatin the lone newcomer. Cousy was the only unanimous selection.

League scoring ace Neil Johnston of Philadelphia, Minneapolis, veteran George Mikan and Adolph Schayes, spark of the Syracuse Nationals, round out the team announced today by league President Maurice Podoloff. First and second team selections, made by sportswriters and broadcasters in NBA cities, failed to include a single rookie.

Ed MacCauley, the other half of Boston's one-two scoring punch, leads the second team balloting after three straight years on the first unit. Jim Pollard of Minneapolis, Carl Braun of New York, Bobby Wanzer of Rochester and Paul Seymour of Syracuse complete the top ten

Ray Felix, the lean 6-11 shotmaker with the Baltimore Bullets, easily won the nomination as rookie of the year in the balloting.

PEORIA, Ill., April 12 (AP)—Robert Vanatta, basketball coach at the U. S. Military Academy, today was named coach at Bradley University.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, April 12—(INS)—They will be off and running in the major leagues tomorrow and to hear them tell it, all clubs are loaded with potential 20-game winners.

Well, the pitchers all may have that potential but very few of them actually will make the grade.

Know how many 20-game winners there were in the majors last year? Only eight, four in each league.

Warren Spahn and Robin Roberts had 23 apiece and Harvey Haddix and Carl Erskine had 20 each in the National.

In the American, Bob Porterfield ran up 22, Mel Parnell and Bob Lemon had 21 each and Virgil Trucks an even 20.

Any pitcher who can win even 20 these days can assure himself of plenty of cabbage.

We were talking about this with a former major leaguer the other day and he chuckled and said: "Never mind those 20-game winners. How many do you think will even win 15 and how many more won't even win 10? Look it up and you'll be surprised."

That sent us delving into the record books and, brother, we really did get a shock.

Would you believe that besides the 20-game men there were only three other pitchers who won as many as 15 games last year?

It's a fact. Curt Simmons rang up 16 and Lew Burdette and Russ Meyer each won 15.

And would you believe there were exactly 50 pitchers in the National League who didn't win even 10 games?

It's a fact and we are not including those fellows who got into only a few games.

The record was a little better in the American League where six fellows won more than 15 besides the aforementioned select 20-game group.

These were Ed Lopat (16), Early Wynn (17), and Bill Pierce, Ed Ford, Mickey McDermott and Mike Garcia 18 apiece.

But there were almost 60 who didn't win even 10 games, not counting those who were in only a few games.

All this would indicate that the majors must have been loaded with .300 hitters. But the fact is there were only 10 of them in the American and 16 in the National. And, need we remind you that there were no Babe Ruths, Ty Cobbs or Rajah Hornsbys among them?

Why the dearth of big winners?

The answer seems to be the universal tendency to yank a pitcher after the other team gets two or three hits back to back.

Years ago a pitcher was allowed to stick around to pitch himself out of a hole. Nowadays a couple of hits is the signal for furious activity in the bullpen.

These days, too, all clubs have a pitcher who is supposed to work the middle innings of a game if the slightest thing goes wrong with the starter and still other bull pen artists who are called on to finish games.

It's the new look in baseball but we, for one, don't like it.

Iowa State Seeks Millikan As Coach

AMES, Iowa, April 12 (AP)—H.A. (Bud) Millikan, University of Maryland coach, tonight emerged the leading prospect as Iowa State's next basketball coach.

Millikan, former Newton, Iowa, high school coach, was the only survivor of three candidates interviewed here for the job last week. The others were Bob Vanatta of Army who accepted the Bradley University coaching position today, and Doyle Parrack of Oklahoma City University who voluntarily withdrew.

Clayton Wins On TKO

Ted Williams Shows Progress

Works Out At Boston, May Play Next Month

BOSTON, April 12 (AP)—Ted Williams, smiling and sun-tanned, had more X-rays taken of his broken collarbone today and then took a Fenway Park workout with the doctor's estimate he may play ball by the latter part of May.

Advised that his injury was healing ahead of schedule, the big Red Sox slugger donned his baseball pants, uniform stockings, spiked shoes and a wind-breaker for some ball tossing and a pepper game.

"We are delighted with his progress," said Dr. Russell Sullivan who operated on Ted's collarbone after he broke it in a March 1 fall in Florida training. "I plan to remove the pin from his bone between May 3 and May 5.

"After the pin is removed he can begin practice in earnest, taking his full swing with a bat."

Williams disclosed he has been staying in shape by running two and a half miles in Florida in recent days. He flew north yesterday for the X-rays.

After the pepper game—in which he did all the batting and Johnny Pohlmeyer, Fenway employe, the fielding, Ted said:

"I really feel loose. I'm ready to hit now if this bone wasn't broken."

Asked if this was his last season in the majors, as his memoirs in a national magazine stated, Williams replied: "Yeah, that's it. This is my last year."

West Virginia School for the Deaf will be striving to break a three-game losing streak when it faces Elk Garden which will be opening its season.

Snead Beats Hogan In Playoff For Masters Golf Crown

Sam Is Victor By One Stroke Before 7,000

Sam Annexes Title 3rd Time With 70 To Bantam Ben's 71

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 12 (AP)—Sam Snead gambled with the "graveyard of the Masters", the tortuous 13th hole, and beat Ben Hogan by a stroke in an 18 hole playoff for the Masters golf title today.

Snead won by a score of 70 to Hogan's 71 in a duel that carried right up to the final green. They had finished the regulation 72 holes yesterday with scores of 289, highest ever to win a Masters tournament.

Wins Third Time

The victory made Snead the second man ever to win the Masters three times, putting him even with Jimmy Demaret. And it deprived Hogan of the same honor and preserved the tradition that no Masters champion ever repeats the next year.

Hogan had won last year with a record 274 score and before that in 1951. Snead's previous victories had come in 1949 and 1952. Demaret, completing his triple in 1950, was the only player to break the mastery these two have held over the huge, testing Augusta National course in six years.

It was the first head-to-head meeting between these two, tabbed by Bobby Jones as "the two greatest golfers in the world" since 1950. And they went at it like a pair of cagey veterans, each fully aware of the other's ability. For the most part they were content to play par golf, hoping to get one birdie when it counted.

Snead was the one who got it—on the 13th hole, where many fine golfers have blown themselves right out of the tournament.

7,000 See Playoff

It was on the 13th yesterday that Billy Joe Patton, the amateur sensation of this year's tournament, took a painful seven that cost him a victory. Patton was a member of today's gallery of some 7,000.

Par for the Augusta National course, with its 6,800 yards of landscaped fairways, is 36-36—72. Snead with 35-35—70 was just two under while Hogan had 35-36—71. The scores were in keeping with the unusually high 72-hole total.

While the scoring wasn't sensational, the tense duel between these two great golfers kept the sweating, hurrying spectators on edge right to the finish. The 13th was the deciding hole and when Hogan three-putted the short 16th, Sam's victory seemed assured. But it wasn't until Snead came out of a trap within putting distance of the last hole that the crowd really relaxed.

After they had turned the first nine all even, Snead went ahead for the first time when he holed a sensational chip shot from off the edge of the tenth green. Hogan got that one back on the 12th and they came to the "graveyard" 13th.

This is a 470-yard, par five hole with a sharp dogleg around some woods to the left. A creek winds in a deep ditch along the left side of the fairway, crosses in front of the green and bends around the right side of it.

Hogan, hitting first, elected to play safe. He drove to the right of the fairway and played a safe shot short of the creek. But Sam elected to gamble. He slammed his drive close to the trees on the bend, took an iron and fired a long, low shot to the green some 35 feet past the pin. Hogan's chip was weak and stopped on the front fringe of the green.

Snead, who has a reputation as a shaky putter and who admitted to the worst case of "yips" in his career before this tournament started, made an almost perfect putt. It came so close to dropping for an eagle that his lanky Negro caddy, holding the pin, bent down to the ball and waved it on.

Hogan, putting from the fringe, couldn't get down and Sam tapped-his one-footer in for a birdie that put him ahead to stay.

Beats Ben 3rd Time

Snead and Hogan now have clashed three times in two-man duals and the score stands 3-0 in Snead's favor. He beat Hogan in the San Francisco Match Play Tournament before the war and again in the playoff for the Los Angeles Open title in 1950.

Snead Beats Hogan In Playoff For Masters Golf Crown

Sam Annexes Title 3rd Time With 70 To Bantam Ben's 71

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 12 (AP)—Sam Snead gambled with the "graveyard of the Masters", the tortuous 13th hole, and beat Ben Hogan by a stroke in an 18 hole playoff for the Masters golf title today.

Snead won by a score of 70 to Hogan's 71 in a duel that carried right up to the final green. They had finished the regulation 72 holes yesterday with scores of 289, highest ever to win a Masters tournament.

Wins Third Time

The victory made Snead the second man ever to win the Masters three times, putting him even with Jimmy Demaret. And it deprived Hogan of the same honor and preserved the tradition that no Masters champion ever repeats the next year.

Hogan had won last year with a record 274 score and before that in 1951. Snead's previous victories had come in 1949 and 1952. Demaret, completing his triple in 1950, was the only player to break the mastery these two have held over the huge, testing Augusta National course in six years.

It was the first head-to-head meeting between these two, tabbed by Bobby Jones as "the two greatest golfers in the world" since 1950. And they went at it like a pair of cagey veterans, each fully aware of the other's ability. For the most part they were content to play par golf, hoping to get one birdie when it counted.

Snead was the one who got it—on the 13th hole, where many fine golfers have blown themselves right out of the tournament.

7,000 See Playoff

It was on the 13th yesterday that Billy Joe Patton, the amateur sensation of this year's tournament, took a painful seven that cost him a victory. Patton was a member of today's gallery of some 7,000.

Par for the Augusta National course, with its 6,800 yards of landscaped fairways, is 36-36—72. Snead with 35-35—70 was just two under while Hogan had 35-36—71. The scores were in keeping with the unusually high 72-hole total.

While the scoring wasn't sensational, the tense duel between these two great golfers kept the sweating, hurrying spectators on edge right to the finish. The 13th was the deciding hole and when Hogan three-putted the short 16th, Sam's victory seemed assured. But it wasn't until Snead came out of a trap within putting distance of the last hole that the crowd really relaxed.

After they had turned the first nine all even, Snead went ahead for the first time when he holed a sensational chip shot from off the edge of the tenth green. Hogan got that one back on the 12th and they came to the "graveyard" 13th.

This is a 470-yard, par five hole with a sharp dogleg around some woods to the left. A creek winds in a deep ditch along the left side of the fairway, crosses in front of the green and bends around the right side of it.

Hogan, hitting first, elected to play safe. He drove to the right of the fairway and played a safe shot short of the creek. But Sam elected to gamble. He slammed his drive close to the trees on the bend, took an iron and fired a long, low shot to the green some 35 feet past the pin. Hogan's chip was weak and stopped on the front fringe of the green.

Snead, who has a reputation as a shaky putter and who admitted to the worst case of "yips" in his career before this tournament started, made an almost perfect putt. It came so close to dropping for an eagle that his lanky Negro caddy, holding the pin, bent down to the ball and waved it on.

Hogan, putting from the fringe, couldn't get down and Sam tapped-his one-footer in for a birdie that put him ahead to stay.

Beats Ben 3rd Time

Snead and Hogan now have clashed three times in two-man duals and the score stands 3-0 in Snead's favor. He beat Hogan in the San Francisco Match Play Tournament before the war and again in the playoff for the Los Angeles Open title in 1950.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 12 (INS) — The tremendous business done by "The Robe" all over the world has made Richard Burton perhaps the best known of the new stars.

In July, Richard returns to Hollywood from London to put his name on a new contract with 20th Century-Fox and to start "Prince of Players," the biography of Edwin Booth. Burton was set for this before he returned to England.

It's odd that while "The Robe" has been on its way to earning a reputed $50,000,000 that it's star, young Burton, has been working for peanuts doing plays with the Old Vic Company.

One of the terms of his new Hollywood contract is that he can do outside pictures, and one of the first he accepts may be Les Yard's "Quiet Thunder" for Frank Lloyd.

Maybe I've said it before, and I'll say it again — George Nader is the most promising hunk of hero to come along in a long time and Universal-International, where he's just signed, agrees with me.

George will kick off his new deal as Rory Calhoun's pal, in "Shadow Valley," an 1880 outlaw thriller.

Another good actor, Richard Carlson, will direct. The lady in the case? She's Colleen Miller, a very pretty newcomer who has appeared previously in just one picture, "Playgirl," with Shelley Winters.

Far be it from me to discourage anybody, but I don't think that Hal Wallis has a Chinaman's chance of getting Audrey Hepburn and Mel Ferrer to co-star in "House of Mist," a novel on the "Rebecca" type of mystery story.

Mel leaves New York soon to star in "La Madre," a stage play, in London, and Audrey has been ordered by her doctor to take a long rest after she finishes "Ondine." She's a much sicker girl than is generally known, but according to some one close to her there is nothing wrong with her that a rest won't help.

I have an idea when Mel goes to England, Audrey will return there with her mother, whose home is in Europe.

Danny Kaye's fans all over the world will soon see him in person. He's the first star ever to go around the world to tell his fans about his picture, "Knock on Wood." Well, he's got some of his own cash in it — and I wish I had a small part of it myself.

Danny leaves Thursday and here's his itinerary: From London he goes to South Africa, where he'll fulfill theater engagements in Capetown, Durban and Johannesburg. Then he flies on to Nairobi, Bombay, New Delhi, Calcutta, Bangkok, Rangoon, Singapore, Manila, Hong Kong and Tokyo. His last stop will be in Honolulu. He'll return in July.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Frank Ross and his wife, Joan Caulfield, have booked June passage on the Ile De France for a holiday in Europe.

The new son born to Sheila and Gordon MacRae has been named Robert Bruce, after the Scottish king. Sheila expects to be at Gordon's opening at the Chi Chi in Palm Springs this week.

Here's a very sweet romance. Debra Paget's baby sister, Lisa Gaye, and 18-year-old Robert Dix, son of the late Richard Dix.

Montevani, the famous European orchestra leader, has recorded Jimmy McHugh's "Dream, Dream, Dream."

And talking about recordings, Peggy Lee has just recorded "White Christmas" with Bing Crosby and Danny Kaye.

Edmund Purdom, who has been seen by the public only in a bit part in "Titanic," and as a spear carrier in "Julius Caesar" (without billing), has just been given a new four figure contract by MGM.

Lizabeth Scott, who was at the Cannes film festival, goes on to London to discuss a British picture in which Richard Conte has the male lead.

The Howard Hughes-Leonard Goldstein deal is by no means cold. They had another meeting over the weekend.

The rumors that Barbara Hutton is in Mexico getting a divorce seem without foundation — although I understand she'll get a divorce there very soon.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

OKEENE, Okla., April 12 (AP) — Nearly a ton of venomous rattlesnakes, buzzing their defiance, were captured alive in Salt Creek Canyon yesterday in the 15th annual rattlesnake roundup.

The bizarre "sporting event" drew an estimated 20,000 persons from 26 states. The foray into the reptile-infested gypsum hills was sponsored by the International Assn. of Rattlesnake Hunters.

NOT HARD LUCK AT ALL

SEEING your ace trumped by the declarer or dummy, when you have led it against a slam contract, would ordinarily make you inclined to berate your hard luck. In some lineups that is not hard luck at all, but good luck. In trumping it, the declarer of course uses up one card of his trump suit. So doing, he may shorten that holding to such an extent that he hasn't enough left to consume the trumps of yourself or your partner, and so has to concede you eventually a trick which you could not have won if you had not made him ruff your nice ace.

When West at Table 1 led his club A, he was chagrined to see it trumped by the heart 3. But later he was glad that happened. After the diamond 3 to the K, South ruffed a second club, came to his hand with the spade 2 to the K and ruffed his last club. The heart A was laid down, then the spade A, the diamond 5 was led to the Q, the heart Q given up to the K and the rest of the tricks went easily to South, who just made his contract.

At Table 2, where East was the opening leader, he disliked underleading his club K, so opened the diamond 9. Now you can see how easy it was for North to win the heart finesses, no matter when West came in with the K, so that he could clear out trumps and run the rest of his tricks. Indeed, after that lead he had fourteen consecutive established winners, though of course he had to choose which thirteen he wanted.

An oddity of this deal is that bad bidding landed one North in 7-Spades, which was easily made after West doubled, for an undeserved top score.

How should South play at 2-No Trumps on this tournament deal after West, who had bid diamonds, leads the J of his suit?

Study Group To Meet

The Adult Study Group of Gephart School will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the cafeteria of the school, according to Mrs. Benjamin Lewis, chairman. The topic for discussion will be "Discipline."

Two Men Face Morals Charges

Morals charges were filed yesterday morning in Trial Magistrates Court against two local men surprised by police early Sunday in a parked automobile in the Montreal Avenue section.

Held for grand jury action in default of $1,000 bond each are Thomas Eugene Bates, 42, of Gay Street, and Oscar Vernon Meeks, 30, of Glenwood Street.

Officer George W. Furstenberg nabbed the pair. Both gave statements and were taken to the State's Attorney's office. Magistrate Donald W. Mason set bond.

Authorities said Meeks is serving in the U. S. Air Force.

The State's Attorney's office said the men have asked an immediate trial before the court, and that the necessary criminal information is being prepared.

George W. Willison, Flintstone, was picked up Saturday on a warrant charging him with contributing to the delinquency of two local 17-year-old girls. The defendant is accused of taking the minors out of Cumberland. He has been released under a cash bond, according to Juvenile Court attaches.

Willison told police he last saw the juveniles in Atlanta, Ga. One of the girls was listed as missing from her home.

John Alburtis, of Bowman's Addition, who drew a 60-day jail sentence Saturday in Police Court on three misdemeanors charges including resisting arrest, also is accused of assaulting a patrolman. He was unable to pay fines imposed by Magistrate Mason.

Alburtis is being detained for allegedly attacking Officer Wilbur E. Shank. Police arrested him Friday night in a North Mechanic Street tavern.

Highest radio station in eastern America is WMIT on Clingmans Dome, North Carolina, 6560 feet high, near the Blue Ridge Parkway.

Study Group To Meet

The Adult Study Group of Gephart School will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the cafeteria of the school, according to Mrs. Benjamin Lewis, chairman. The topic for discussion will be "Discipline."

Two Men Face Morals Charges

Morals charges were filed yesterday morning in Trial Magistrates Court against two local men surprised by police early Sunday in a parked automobile in the Montreal Avenue section.

Held for grand jury action in default of $1,000 bond each are Thomas Eugene Bates, 42, of Gay Street, and Oscar Vernon Meeks, 30, of Glenwood Street.

Officer George W. Furstenberg nabbed the pair. Both gave statements and were taken to the State's Attorney's office. Magistrate Donald W. Mason set bond.

Authorities said Meeks is serving in the U. S. Air Force.

The State's Attorney's office said the men have asked an immediate trial before the court, and that the necessary criminal information is being prepared.

George W. Willison, Flintstone, was picked up Saturday on a warrant charging him with contributing to the delinquency of two local 17-year-old girls. The defendant is accused of taking the minors out of Cumberland. He has been released under a cash bond, according to Juvenile Court attaches.

Willison told police he last saw the juveniles in Atlanta, Ga. One of the girls was listed as missing from her home.

John Alburtis, of Bowman's Addition, who drew a 60-day jail sentence Saturday in Police Court on three misdemeanors charges including resisting arrest, also is accused of assaulting a patrolman. He was unable to pay fines imposed by Magistrate Mason.

Alburtis is being detained for allegedly attacking Officer Wilbur E. Shank. Police arrested him Friday night in a North Mechanic Street tavern.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Earl E. (Duke) Sandsbury, who departed this life 12 years ago today, April 13, 1942.

In the book of life there are pages,
Filled with memories fond and true.
And those most dear throughout the years
Are the beautiful memories of you.

Card of Thanks

We take this manner in which to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our neighbors and friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the illness and following the death of our beloved Husband and Father, Conrad L. Haberlein. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.

Mrs. Edith Haberlein
& Children

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for the many kindnesses shown us during the illness and following the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Amy C. Elbin. We especially wish to thank the ministers, Rev. Joseph Young and Rev. B. F. Hartman for their comforting words; the nurses at Sacred Heart Hospital; the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral and to all others who in any manner rendered assistance.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Earl E. (Duke) Sandsbury, who departed this life 12 years ago today, April 13, 1942.

In the book of life there are pages,
Filled with memories fond and true.
And those most dear throughout the years
Are the beautiful memories of you.
Sadly missed by Wife and Children

Market Is Slightly Lower Following Hesitant Session

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—The Stock Market went through a hesitant session today and closed slightly lower.

Some uranium stocks did well together with farm implements and coppers. Showing lower tendencies were steels, motors, aircrafts, and chemicals.

The railroads ended higher on average, but a great portion of that was due to Santa Fe which gained 1¾ at 100.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained unchanged at $118.50. That is the peak of the year and the best level for the average in the past 24 years.

The industrial component of the average lost 20 cents while the railroads were up 20 cents and the utilities held unchanged.

But there were 494 losers in the list of 1,160 individual issues traded and 382 gainers. One hundred and five issues recorded new highs for the year and 11 hit new lows.

New York Central was the day's most active issue off ⅝ at 21¼ with 56,400 shares traded.

Market Is Slightly Lower Following Hesitant Session

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—The Stock Market went through a hesitant session today and closed slightly lower.

Some uranium stocks did well together with farm implements and coppers. Showing lower tendencies were steels, motors, aircrafts, and chemicals.

The railroads ended higher on average, but a great portion of that was due to Santa Fe which gained 1¾ at 100.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained unchanged at $118.50. That is the peak of the year and the best level for the average in the past 24 years.

The industrial component of the average lost 20 cents while the railroads were up 20 cents and the utilities held unchanged.

But there were 494 losers in the list of 1,160 individual issues traded and 382 gainers. One hundred and five issues recorded new highs for the year and 11 hit new lows.

New York Central was the day's most active issue off ⅝ at 21¼ with 56,400 shares traded.

Blast Tears Hole In Old Industrial Dam

C & O Canal Basin Structure Breached

Part of the impounding basin of the old Chesapeake and Ohio Canal was blown apart yesterday afternoon as workers of the E. J. Albrecht Company detonated 130 pounds of dynamite in the massive stone structure underneath the Western Maryland Bridge opposite Riverside Park.

Breaching of the stone dam and wood wall which forms part of the city's Industrial Dam was done in order to relieve the back flow of water in Wills Creek, and was a part of the firm's contract in connection with the new Industrial Dam.

The blast, set off about 3:07 p. m. under the supervision of E. E. Gronbach, who is in charge of the company's projects at Wills Creek and the Industrial Dam, blew a semicircular hole about 45 feet wide in the stone wall.

An immediate drop in the level of Wills Creek followed the controlled explosion which loosened the huge stone of the dam along a 65 foot stretch.

Other Blasts Slated

Company officials said other smaller blasts will be required later to complete the breaching of the dam, which will increase the capacity of Wills Creek to carry off flood water.

Set off under the supervision of two duPont representatives, preparations for the blast began last week, when workers began drilling holes in the massive masonry dam.

The holes, some of them 11 feet deep, were drilled in the stone structure in order to shove—not blow—the rocks downstream.

Several hundred sidewalk superintendents stood on the Ridgeley side of the Western Maryland bridge to watch the explosion.

Although the blast seemed to go off all at once, the dynamite charges were detonated in three cycles.

Drops Water Level

Future dynamiting of the old dam will drop the level of Wills Creek still further, officials said.

Officials said the original stone section of the dam was built about 1830 to form the impounding basin for the old C & O Canal.

Following the 1924 flood, which put the canal out of commission, the city built a slanting wooden top to the dam which extended to the second pier of the railroad bridge, and to the right built the gates which have been used to dam up water for industries.

Representing the Corps of Engineers at the breaching was Rex E. Dexter, area engineer, and his staff.

The Albrecht firm yesterday completed pouring concrete in Wills Creek and expects to complete that contract by the end of the week. It included about 3,000 feet of paving of the walls and bed of the creek as part of a high-speed channel plan.

All Concrete Poured

The last pour of concrete for the Industrial Dam has also been completed, and three more months of work will complete that contract.

Remaining work includes the removal of coffer dams which were built to allow the construction of the new Industrial Dam, and the laying of impervious fill, covered with "rip rap," along the Potomac River in the vicinity of the dam.

The firm has until October 7 to complete the work, but expects to be out before that date.

Completion of the Albrecht work will set the stage for the construction of the new bridge which is to be erected this fall on the abutments which form part of the dam.

On Maundy Thursday there will be Holy Communion at 10:30 a. m. a children's service at 4 p. m. and Holy Communion and sermon at 7:30 p. m. Instead of going to the altar rail to receive Communion, the congregation will remain in their pews and Communion will be brought to them.

Then, on Good Friday, the rector will conduct the Service of the Passion from noon until 3 p. m. He will preach on the words from the Cross. On Easter Eve at 4 p. m. there will be public baptism of children following the church's tradition.

$417 Given In Easter Lily Drive

Sale of paper Easter lilies in Cumberland and Frostburg Saturday has added $417.09 to the 10th annual Easter Seal Sale, according to William R. Carscaden, campaign chairman.

Carscaden expressed regrets that the amount was not higher but thanked members of the Cumberland Eagles and Frostburg Moose who conducted the lily sale. In Cumberland, the contributions reached $229.26 while in Frostburg they totalled $187.83. The $417.09 total is $84.44 less than the $501.53.

That means that campaign leaders need at least $85 this coming Saturday from the Lonaconing Lions Club, which will sell the paper lapel lilies in the community on Easter Eve.

So far in the month-long drive $2,921.35 has been realized from the distribution of 12,000 form letters with Easter Seals to Allegany County residents.

Coupled with the $417.09 donated Saturday, that makes a total collection of $3,338.44. No specific goal has been set for the drive which ends Easter Sunday. However, it was recalled that $5,000 was donated a year ago to help the Allegany County League for Crippled Children in its program of assisting all handicapped children. Unlike March of Dimes money, which is earmarked for polio victims, the Easter Seal funds can be used by the league for any and all of its cases.

Fire Destroys Moorefield Lumber Yard

Officials To Press Reconstruction Plans

Officials of the F. C. Cook Company planing mill at Moorefield, which was destroyed by fire yesterday, met last night in that community to make plans for reconstruction work.

Three persons were injured in the blaze which caused damages estimated at nearly $400,000 and brought six volunteer fire companies into action.

The blaze was discovered about 8:30 a. m. yesterday. Firemen fought the flames for over six hours before bringing them under control. Volunteers were on duty last night to check any small fires which might flare up and endanger a number of company houses in the vicinity.

A company spokesman said the blaze apparently was started when a diesel power unit used to drive a planer caught fire. Later the intense heat caused the fuel tank to explode spewing flames about the one-story frame building.

The unit was reported located on the outside of the gutted building, the spokesman added.

The plant, which employs between 60 to 80 workers, is located at the southern outskirts of Moorefield, and was a mass of flames as volunteer firemen from that community arrived.

Volunteer units came from 20 to 25 miles away to join in the fight. Destroyed by the fire was a large quantity of finished wood which was ready for market. Volunteers trained water on the homes of about 20 families living in the company houses nearby.

Also burned beside the large planing mill and machinery were a boxcar being loaded with finished hardwood flooring, and a gondola. The lumber plant covers an area 80 by 400 feet. Large quantities of lumber were moved from the area of the building.

As the flames spread, the families living in the company houses were evacuated and their furnishings removed from the homes.

Water used in extinguishing the blaze was pumped from South Fork, a small stream located near the building.

Three persons who suffered first degree burns of the face and arms were Joseph Smith and Gilbert Raines, of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company and Thomas Miller, an employe of the firm, who was hurt when a blazing door fell on him.

The spokesman said that the loss was partially covered by insurance and the total damage had not been determined. Volunteer firemen on the scene were from Moorefield, Petersburg, Romney, Burlington, and Wardensville.

Yesterday evening smouldering embers which blew into the office of the company caught fire but did little damage as it was quickly quenched by firemen.

Meeting last night were F. C. Cook and M. B. Sullivan co-partners of the firm of Baltimore, and John M. Martin, general manager of the Moorefield plant.

First Democrat Files Candidacy In County Race

Charles Burke Seeks Committee Post

The first Democrat to seek office subject to the June 28 primary was among five persons who filed their certificates of candidacy yesterday with the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

He is Charles J. Burke, 150 North Mechanic Street, who filed for the Democratic State Central Committee. Others who filed were J. William Beck, 152 Wood Street, Westernport, and Manson M. Durr, Rawlings, both for Allegany County Commissioners; Thomas Elias, 56 West College Avenue, Frostburg, for Republican State Central Committee; and Jonathan Sleeman, 283 East Main Street, Frostburg, for the House of Delegates, all subject to the Republican primary.

1950 Candidate

Burke, an auditor by profession, sought election to the House of Delegates on the Democratic ticket four years ago, finishing 10th among the 12 candidates. He is a son of the late Thomas H. Burke, local theater operator who died earlier this month.

Burke assisted his father and brother, Daniel P. Burke, in the theater business for many years and recently worked as auditor for the George and Lynch Contracting Company during flood conduit work here.

Also seeking the State Central Committee post on the Republican ticket is incumbent Thomas Elias who joins Edgar M. Lewis and Victor H. Hebb as the only incumbents to file for re-election to the committee. Elias is the sixth county resident to file for the GOP committee.

He has been a committee member for over 20 years and is proprietor of a tailoring and cleaning shop in Frostburg where he has lived since he was nine years old. He has been in business since 1916 and has a son, Dr. Thomas Elias, of New York City. Elias is a native of Eckhart and said last night "I have gotten a lot of pleasure out of working," as he seeks his sixth consecutive term of office.

Eight In Race

Beck and Durr bring to eight the number of Allegany countians seeking the three county commissioners seats on the Republican ticket.

Beck said last night "I made up my mind to run because no one has filed for county commissioners from Westernport's District 8 for over 50 years."

A paint company distributor Beck formerly worked for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company for 18 years and also for the Monumental Life Insurance Company and the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company.

This is his first venture into politics, the native of Luke said, and he has lived in Westernport for 43 years. He is a graduate of Bruce High School and of the Dale Carnegie public speaking course.

A charter member and past president of the Westernport-Luke Lions Club, Beck served as Maryland District Governor of the Lions in 1952-53. He is an officer of the Piedmont Company No. 10 Uniformed Rank Knights of Pythias.

Durr resides in Rawlings and is proprietor of a service station there. This also is his first venture in politics.

Sleeman Files

Sleeman became the 12th person to file for GOP House of Delegates and previously served 16 years in the Maryland General Assembly. He was first elected to office in 1928 and served unded the Ritchie and O'Conor administrations. He was chairman of the Allegany County delegation for three terms.

A native of Vale Summit, Sleeman has resided in Frostburg for the past 40 years and was a member of the Sleeman Brothers Contracting company, retiring three years ago.

In his announcement Sleeman said he is interested in securing new industry in the tri-state area and thoroughly familiar with the value of real estate, feeling certain the assessments should be checked to eliminate inequalities.

If elected Sleeman said he plans to seek legislation to give a maximum of home rule to the county.

Old Industrial Dam Is Breached

Tons of water, but few stones, blew into the air yesterday as workers of the E. J. Albrecht Company dynamited a hole in the old Industrial Dam across the Potomac River in order to aid the flow of water from Wills Creek. The 130 pounds of dynamite blasted a hole in the massive masonry and loosened the stones along a 65 foot section of the dam.

Blast Tears Hole In Old Industrial Dam

C & O Canal Basin Structure Breached

Part of the impounding basin of the old Chesapeake and Ohio Canal was blown apart yesterday afternoon as workers of the E. J. Albrecht Company detonated 130 pounds of dynamite in the massive stone structure underneath the Western Maryland Bridge opposite Riverside Park.

Breaching of the stone dam and wood wall which forms part of the city's Industrial Dam was done in order to relieve the back flow of water in Wills Creek, and was a part of the firm's contract in connection with the new Industrial Dam.

The blast, set off about 3:07 p. m. under the supervision of E. E. Gronbach, who is in charge of the company's projects at Wills Creek and the Industrial Dam, blew a semicircular hole about 45 feet wide in the stone wall.

An immediate drop in the level of Wills Creek followed the controlled explosion which loosened the huge stone of the dam along a 65 foot stretch.

Other Blasts Slated

Company officials said other smaller blasts will be required later to complete the breaching of the dam, which will increase the capacity of Wills Creek to carry off flood water.

Set off under the supervision of two duPont representatives, preparations for the blast began last week, when workers began drilling holes in the massive masonry dam.

The holes, some of them 11 feet deep, were drilled in the stone structure in order to shove—not blow—the rocks downstream.

Several hundred sidewalk superintendents stood on the Ridgeley side of the Western Maryland bridge to watch the explosion.

Although the blast seemed to go off all at once, the dynamite charges were detonated in three cycles.

Drops Water Level

Future dynamiting of the old dam will drop the level of Wills Creek still further, officials said.

Officials said the original stone section of the dam was built about 1830 to form the impounding basin for the old C & O Canal.

Following the 1924 flood, which put the canal out of commission, the city built a slanting wooden top to the dam which extended to the second pier of the railroad bridge, and to the right built the gates which have been used to dam up water for industries.

Representing the Corps of Engineers at the breaching was Rex E. Dexter, area engineer, and his staff.

The Albrecht firm yesterday completed pouring concrete in Wills Creek and expects to complete that contract by the end of the week. It included about 3,000 feet of paving of the walls and bed of the creek as part of a high-speed channel plan.

All Concrete Poured

The last pour of concrete for the Industrial Dam has also been completed, and three more months of work will complete that contract.

Remaining work includes the removal of coffer dams which were built to allow the construction of the new Industrial Dam, and the laying of impervious fill, covered with "rip rap," along the Potomac River in the vicinity of the dam.

The firm has until October 7 to complete the work, but expects to be out before that date.

Completion of the Albrecht work will set the stage for the construction of the new bridge which is to be erected this fall on the abutments which form part of the dam.

$417 Given In Easter Lily Drive

Sale of paper Easter lilies in Cumberland and Frostburg Saturday has added $417.09 to the 10th annual Easter Seal Sale, according to William R. Carscaden, campaign chairman.

Carscaden expressed regrets that the amount was not higher but thanked members of the Cumberland Eagles and Frostburg Moose who conducted the lily sale. In Cumberland, the contributions reached $229.26 while in Frostburg they totalled $187.83. The $417.09 total is $84.44 less than the $501.53.

That means that campaign leaders need at least $85 this coming Saturday from the Lonaconing Lions Club, which will sell the paper lapel lilies in the community on Easter Eve.

So far in the month-long drive $2,921.35 has been realized from the distribution of 12,000 form letters with Easter Seals to Allegany County residents.

Coupled with the $417.09 donated Saturday, that makes a total collection of $3,338.44. No specific goal has been set for the drive which ends Easter Sunday. However, it was recalled that $5,000 was donated a year ago to help the Allegany County League for Crippled Children in its program of assisting all handicapped children. Unlike March of Dimes money, which is earmarked for polio victims, the Easter Seal funds can be used by the league for any and all of its cases.

The first Democrat to seek office subject to the June 28 primary was among five persons who filed their certificates of candidacy yesterday with the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

He is Charles J. Burke, 150 North Mechanic Street, who filed for the Democratic State Central Committee. Others who filed were J. William Beck, 152 Wood Street, Westernport, and Manson M. Durr, Rawlings, both for Allegany County Commissioners; Thomas Elias, 56 West College Avenue, Frostburg, for Republican State Central Committee; and Jonathan Sleeman, 283 East Main Street, Frostburg, for the House of Delegates, all subject to the Republican primary.

1950 Candidate

Burke, an auditor by profession, sought election to the House of Delegates on the Democratic ticket four years ago, finishing 10th among the 12 candidates. He is a son of the late Thomas H. Burke, local theater operator who died earlier this month.

Burke assisted his father and brother, Daniel P. Burke, in the theater business for many years and recently worked as auditor for the George and Lynch Contracting Company during flood conduit work here.

Also seeking the State Central Committee post on the Republican ticket is incumbent Thomas Elias who joins Edgar M. Lewis and Victor H. Hebb as the only incumbents to file for re-election to the committee. Elias is the sixth county resident to file for the GOP committee.

He has been a committee member for over 20 years and is proprietor of a tailoring and cleaning shop in Frostburg where he has lived since he was nine years old. He has been in business since 1916 and has a son, Dr. Thomas Elias, of New York City. Elias is a native of Eckhart and said last night "I have gotten a lot of pleasure out of working," as he seeks his sixth consecutive term of office.

Eight In Race

Beck and Durr bring to eight the number of Allegany countians seeking the three county commissioners seats on the Republican ticket.

Beck said last night "I made up my mind to run because no one has filed for county commissioners from Westernport's District 8 for over 50 years."

A paint company distributor Beck formerly worked for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company for 18 years and also for the Monumental Life Insurance Company and the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company.

This is his first venture into politics, the native of Luke said, and he has lived in Westernport for 43 years. He is a graduate of Bruce High School and of the Dale Carnegie public speaking course.

A charter member and past president of the Westernport-Luke Lions Club, Beck served as Maryland District Governor of the Lions in 1952-53. He is an officer of the Piedmont Company No. 10 Uniformed Rank Knights of Pythias.

Durr resides in Rawlings and is proprietor of a service station there. This also is his first venture in politics.

Old Industrial Dam Is Breached

Tons of water, but few stones, blew into the air yesterday as workers of the E. J. Albrecht Company dynamited a hole in the old Industrial Dam across the Potomac River in order to aid the flow of water from Wills Creek. The 130 pounds of dynamite blasted a hole in the massive masonry and loosened the stones along a 65 foot section of the dam.
